Candidate Can't File Suit?

Mrs. Forrester Only Rents, D.C. Attorney Charges

Daly City city attorney Albert Polonsky Monday asked for dismissal of a suit filed against the city by a candidate for the Jefferson Elementary School District Board.

Polonsky based his action on the contention that the complainant, Beverly Forrester, rents her home in the city and therefore can not be considered a property tax paying citizen.

Mrs. Forrester filed an amended class action suit against the city of Daly City, the Jefferson School District and its trustees, on February 18, 1971.

In her complaint she charged that the trustees, including Edward Tomasello, Mrs. Dorothy Adams, William Schumacher, Joseph Lewkowitz and Albert Collett "acted in excess of their authority by appropriating an amount to be paid to . . . Daly City for recreation. . . ."

What Mrs. Forrester objects to is the increasing amount of money the school district has turned over to the city annually for children's recreational purposes at schoolgrounds.

Each year the city submits a budget figure to the JESD which, in turn, funds the program after approval by the Board.

In July 1962 the city and JESD agreed upon a figure of $25,919.20 from the district. The city's share was approximately three times that amount.

Each year, by simple motion of the boards involved, this figure has been increased. Last year the JESD allocated some $47,000 while the city budgeted more than $100,000, according to Polonsky.

The city's share of the monies comes from the Civic Center Fund which comes out of property taxes.

Polonsky contends, in his dismissal action, that Mrs. Forrester does not own property in the city and therfore cannot bring a property taxpayers' suit against the city.

Mr. Forrester wants the city to refund all amounts exceeding the $26,000 agreed upon in 1962 to the school district.

This figure is estimated at more than $100,000.

Her causes of action named in the suit filed in Superior Court in Redwood City also charged that JESD trustee Edward Tomasello was the deciding vote on some of the funding and that he is a paid employe of the city's Recreation Department.

Officials of the Recreation Department and City Manager David Rowe said Tomasello is not in a decision-making capacity in the department.

Friday Storm

Store Roof Collapses

A long winter dry spell ended Friday as high winds and heavy rains lashed the Bay Area for hours.

Heaviest damage on the Peninsula was to the White Front store on El Camino Real, South San Francisco, where a huge section of roof caved in under the pressure of the deluge. Doors were opened to customers by 5 p.m., however, less than five hours after the collapse.

In the White Front collapse, teams of firemen and store employes used water damaged rugs and sawdust from the garden section to dike the store waters pouring through the gaping hole in the roof.

Inside the structure, water swirled around merchandise in many departments.

By five p.m. the mess had been cleaned up and the store opened for business.

Throughout the night workmen were busy repairing the damage and replacing merchandise and mopping floors.

Meanwhile, there was relatively little damage done by the storm in other sections of the North County.

PG&E said a utility pole in South San Francisco tilted precariously during a heavy onslaught by winds and had to be replaced. The usual number of arcing and broken wires kept firemen hopping in every city.

California Highway patrolmen reported dozens of other accidents, mostly in the northern end of the county, although only one, involving a Greyhound bus, resulted in minor injuries.

Highway Patrolman Paul Whitmore said a convertible driven by David Lee Allen, 26, of San Francisco, spun out in the rainy and gusty weather, hit a guard rail and bounced back into two lanes of traffic on the Sierra Point cutoff.

Two cars were able to stop, according to the patrolman, but a bus driven by Howard E. Waite, 58, of San Francisco, swerved, struck the guard rail and hit the two stopped cars.

Suffering minor injuries were four passengers in the bus.

Whitmore reported on his way to the accident he noticed one Volkswagen blown off the freeway onto the shoulder.

Menkin on Agenda to Be Ousted

San Bruno City Manager Christopher Menkin's dismissal was on last night's San Bruno city council.

Councilmen, originally scheduling a meeting for March 10 to discuss his dismissal, that day postponed it to Thursday night.

Then the press was notified that a special meeting would be held at 7:30 p.m. Yesterday. Rescheduling was at the request of the majority of the council members, according to City Clerk Carl Hultberg.

Last night's meeting was to concern itself with six specific items.

First on the list was the dismissal of Menkin. The council was then exptcted to name an acting city manager, probably City Engineer Leo Van Dusen who has acted is that capacity in the past.

New council members Margaret Kozkowski and Tony Governale, and veterans George Corey and Maurice Hamilton, said they intend to establish written procedures for the appointment of a city manager.

The council also was expected to name a new mayor and vice mayor. Mayor Neil Christal, who survived the recent recall, technically is named mayor until April. A council majority vote may change this.

Councilman Hamilton is rumored to be named mayor, and Councilman Corey appears the most likely person for the vice-mayorship.

Council members intneded also to reinstate a study meeting prior to the next regular council session on March 22. The caucus session had been eliminated by the past council because it was ineffective in its purpose of adequately briefing councilmen on agenda items.

One other item scheduled for action had to do with a Regional Planning Commission recommendation for a $40 million bond issue for parks and open space.

The county has asked the cities to endorse the proposal.

SSF Manager Quits After Two Weeks

By BOB PETERSON

South San Francisco's new City Manager Gale Dreisbach Monday night resigned from his two-week-old appointed position before four councilmen knew it was happening.

Asst. City Mgr. Larry Ross was once again named Acting City Manager, an an annual salary of $25,000, and may become permanent city manager.

At the 4:30 p.m. pre-council study session, Dreisbach remained in the city manager's office, rather than appearing in the caucus room.

Mayor Patrick Ahern also was in the city manager's office.

About 4:45 p.m., Councilman Warren Steinkamp asked Ross to see what was taking the mayor so long.

Before Ross could check, Ahern entered the room alone. He said the city manager was ill and asked Ross to handle the meeting. No indication was given that Dreisbach had resigned.

Later in the meeting, a secretary came into the room and handed the mayor five envelopes. These apparently contained Dreisbach's letter of resignation. Yet nothing was said.

By the time the 8 p.m. regular council meeting was scheduled to start, rumors were rife. No one seemed to know what the situation was, but questions about Dreisbach's status with the city received shrugs of shoulders and looks of wonderment.

Finally, during the end of the council meeting, resident Don Gamma asked, "I heard that Dreisbach has resigned. Is there anything to that?"

Mayor Ahern said, "Anything like that would have to come out of a personnel session." A session already had been requested on another matter so residents waited nearly two hours more before Mayor Ahern announced the resignation.

Dreisbach's letter said, "In the best interests of the City of South San Francisco and for personal reasons, I take this action after deliberate consideration."

He said he normally would allow a 30-day notice, but felt it wasn't necessary because it would serve no useful purpose.

All councilmen registered stunned surprise.

Mayor Ahern said Dreisbach had a job waiting in Lawndale, the Southern California city

Westlake Association Asks Curbs on Dogs

Daly City has finally gone to the dogs, the president of the Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association, said Monday.

Howard Garden told the City Council during its Monday night study session that reports of dogs ruining lawns and fouling shopping center sidewalks are flooding into his office.

And now loose dogs are running throughout the city in packs attacking other dogs and people.

Garden asked the council for directions on what action could be taken to curb this growing nuisance.

There are leash laws in the city, Mayor Bernard Lycett explained.

But the mayor admitted the city has been less than ambitious in pursuing the problem to its source — offending dog owners.

City Mgr. David Rowe said Daly City was getting less service from the county dog catcher and more complaints concerning dogs in recent years.

Dog owners who allow their pets to roam freely about the neighborhood have apparently got the time of the dog catchers' rounds down pat, Rowe said.

During hours when owners know the dog catcher is not on his patrol in the city they allow their pets to run loose, Garden said.

The suggestion that citizens need an animal education program did not go over well with some members of the council.

Councilman Frank Pacelli, a dog owner, was less than enthusiastic about a proposed education program. He noted such programs had failed in the past.

Another councilman, Tony Giamonna, agreed with Pacelli and fellow Councilman McRobert Stewart that stronger measures must be taken against offenders.

Proposals Disclosed, JCTA Angry

The president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association has chided Jefferson Elementary School District Supt. Frank L. Greenwood for making public the JCTA's 1971 negotiation package.

Ray Downen, a Ferando Rivera schoolteacher, said Greenwood did not act in good faith when he disclosed teacher proposals for revision of the district's memorandum of agreement last week.

Greenwood, in releasing the packet, also issued a computation of what he said would be the costs of implementing all of the agreement revisions.

The figure came to more than $4 million.

Downen explained, "It has been the aim of the JCTA to see that negotiations take place at the table rather than at board meetings."

He said that while the JCTA believed the public has the right to know and the board the responsibility to report on negotiation progress and that the JCTA also issues reports to teachers, the reports state only areas of progress, discussion and tentative agreement reached at the table.

"They do not step out of the area considered 'good faith' in negotiations," Downen added.

"The JCTA has no intention," he said, "of supporting a $4-million increase in the district."

He pointed out that many areas in the teachers' proposals are "overlapping alternatives"

The Drug Scene

Heroin Holds Spotlight

By GEORGE GOLDING

"HEROIN," that's the one-word answer given by the first four people that I asked: "What's new on the drug scene?"

Those four people should know. Two are policemen who see a lot of heroin users, in jail, and in hospital emergency rooms overdosed with drugs. One is a high school counselor specializing in anti-drug education. The other is a pharmacist working with the San Mateo County Drug Abuse Council.

First of a Series

Heroin? There's nothing new about heroin. It's been around for a long time.

Right, but now it is being used by more young people, people in their early 20s.

What's new in drugs?

"Suicide," says Dr. Stanford Rossiter, a surgeon.

"I've seen a dozen of them in the past year, where young people have taken 'everything in the medicine cabinet.' We never used to get any.

"We may start treating them for barbiturate reaction, and then find they are also full of stimulants, aspirins, tranquilizers, anti-histamines, everything. It makes for a very complicated toxicological problem.

"We don't care what he or she's taken at first. All we want to do is keep them breathing.

"Later, after the crisis, we need to know, so we can treat the patient specifically."

It is assumed that at least some of the people who die from overdoses, whether of heroin or other drugs, do not intend to die.

Dr. Rossiter calls these deaths, "suicides, intentional, or unintentional."

That's what's new on the drug scene.

The occasional deaths, the frequent "overdose" reactions to heroin, and the increasing frequency with which people are turning up on burglary reports with admitted $60 a day habits of heroin.

Burlingame's tiny city jail on a recent weekend held three prisoners, all charged with burglary, all suffering the pains of heroin withdrawal.

Use of LSD has apparently fallen off a bit, in the past year or so because young mothers are afraid of the reported probability of genetic damage to their children.

Use of "speed" is down, reportedly because many of those in the drug culture have come to realize it is a mind-ruiner.

LSSD Upper Grade Plan Meet Today

Laguna Salada School District administrators in Pacifica will take their proposal for an upper grade complex at Ortega School to parents in that area at 7:30 p.m. today.

Marvin Morganti, assistant superintendent for instruction, explained that opposition is expected to the proposal to convert Ortega school from a kindergarten-sixth grade school to a kindergarten-second grade and seventh and eighth facility.

Morganti called it "an exciting plan."

He explained that seventh and eighth graders from Oddstad and Crespi schools would be shifted next year to Ortega, with third through sixth grades being housed at Oddstad and Crespi, both of which are open-plan schools.

Ortega is a "traditional" school plant.

Morganti pointed out that the

LSSD Changes Meeting Day

Meetings of the Laguna Salada School District will shift back to Thursdays, starting April 8.

The session will be held at Linda Mar School.

Administrators said the change will better fit the schedules of trustees.

Meetings previously were held on Thursdays, but changed then to Tuesdays for the benefit of trustee scheduling.

JESD Plans 20-Member Budget Unit

A 20-member committee will study further Jefferson Elementary School District cuts, trustees have decided.

The board rejected, at the urging of Chairman Ed Tomasello, a Jefferson Council of P-TA's offer from President Jean Markovich to form a large community-wide committee to review the budget.

Instead, the present educational planning council, appointed by Supt. Frank Greenwood, will be retained, with augmentation by ten community members selected by the trustees.

Tomasello was balking because he wanted to know the makeup of any community committee before he would accept any P-TA offer, he said.

He explained that he wanted members of the community who were representatives of large numbers, rather than those who might have "strong feelings," yet did not necessarily represent large numbers. Each board member will appoint two persons to the committee.

Objections in South S.F. to RPC Open Space Plan

Objection to the County Regional Planning Commission (RPC) proposed $40 million parks and open space plan has been voiced in South San Francisco.

City Planner Dan Pass on Monday told the councilmen he and Recreation and Parks Supt. Bob Maxey "cannot recommend that the planning commission endorse the report."

According to a memo Pass presented to the planning commissioners, the project does not merit the city's support because it excludes the acquisition of the lands of the California Golf Club and some of the private lands that would make up the city's proposed Shoreline Regional Park.

Pass said that although the North County has the preponderance of population, most of the regional parks would be located in the southern part of the county.

Under the proposal of the RPC's Ways and Means Committee, the plan will be established and financed in two stages. The first would be a 1970-79 phase. The RPC is seeking endorsement so that a bond issue may be submitted to voters perferably in June.

The first stage, as it affects South San Francisco and the North County, includes the purchase and initial development of 315 acres of San Bruno Mountain, commonly referred to as the "saddle."

According to Pass this property would be purchased at $28,000 an acre.

Pass also pointed out that while the plan indicates that Oyster Point Marina would remain in a municipal project, and recognizes that Belle Air Peninsula would have regional open space significance, the latter is not included in the first stage of the plan.

The city's general plan, according to Pass, shows that the marina and Belle Air Peninsula are constituent components of South San Francisco's proposed Shoreline Regional Park.

Belle Air Peninsula development is included in the second phase.

Candidates Take Stand

By WILL THOMAS

Controversial Serramonte High School, a two-year-old modular-schedule school in Daly City, is at least a talking point, if not an issue, in the current Jefferson High School District trustees' election campaign.

Four candidates are vying for two seats in the April 20 vote. One will succeed the late James M. Cooper ,who died last week. The other seat contested is occupied by Al Teglia, who is one of the four aspirants.

Teglia, who works for the San Mateo School District, but a longtime Daly City resident, at a candidates' night admitted he has some concern that the youngsters who cannot handle the self-motivating, non-structured modular system at Serramonte might not be acquiring the necessary skills.

the response was in answer to a direct question from the audience.

Teglia described Serramonte as a beautiful school, which is physically conducive to good education.

But, he said, some adjustments are going to be required. It might have to become a little more structured, he said.

There are a number of students who need more structuring, he said.

Candidate Dale Buettgenback, a Laguna Salada (Elementary) School District trustee, has observed the modular scheduling program in Pacifica.

He admitted there have been "some problems" since the school went modular three years ago, yet, he said he believes the system has a lot to offer the individual student, allowing him to progress at his own rate, which he said, must be measured.

Ruth Boudinot, a former Laguna Salada trustee, said she is "100 per cent for" modular, or flexible, scheduling. Each student has the opportunity for extra assistance.

Thomas LaFlesh, a member of the Brisbane Elementary School District, appeared to have some reservations. He said modular scheduling is a "tremendous responsibility" for the high school student to use his time to best advantage.

Both LaFlesh and Buettgenback said they would retain their positions on their elementary school remain on their elemantary school district boards.

Mrs. Boudinot has lived in Pacifica 16 years. She has been appointed to the San Mateo County Juvenile Justice Commission, the County Delinquency Prevention Commission and on the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau board of directors.

Buettgenback is a 39-year-old print shop co-owner who has a daughter at Terra Nova High and a son at Oceana High. He is a 15-year resident of Pacifica and is in his second Laguna Salada district trustee term.

Tom LaFlesh is a computer programmer for the Schlage Lock Company and a Brisbane resident four years.

He is chairman of the Brisbane School Board.

Manager Quits-- After 2 Weeks

where he was previously employed.

It was confirmed that the Lawndale City Council Monday took action to rehire Dreisbach.

Why did he resign?

"I don't know," said Mayor Ahern. "I'd like to get that information. It might be all kinds of things. He didn't want to go into it."

Attempts to contact Dreisbach failed.

"They ought to put on all applications, 'must conform,'" said one city hall pundit.

Another said he didn't think anybody "will hack it" as South San Francisco's city manager because "everything is firefighting."

Still a third said Dreisbach wanted to operate in the efficient manner of a corporation (which a city is) but very early met with an extreme amount of political pressure.

These beliefs, for many, were confirmed when Ross, who had been asked to be permanent city manager, according to Mayor Ahern, said he would rather be acting city manager "until we've had more time to appraise him."

Ross said the reason he did not accept the permanent city managership was because he could not reach agreement with the full council on his salary.

"At budget time we know where we stand," said Ahern. "All indications are that he (Ross) will be permanent city manager."

And one person said, "It's going to be an in[illegible]ting development."

Educators in LSSD Get Their Notices

Notices to nearly 70 certificated persons who aren't in Laguna Salada School District classrooms that they might not have jobs went by unheralded in Pacifica.

That's because the district has been issuing such notices annually for the last four years routinely.

A poverty district, Laguna Salada has only twice eliminated positions. Last year, four nurses were terminated in a cost-cutting move. Three years ago 15 resource opportunity teachers were cut loose.

The music department was a prime objective for curtailment last year, but survived.

"They were all sent routine notices this year," one administrator explained, to comply with the law that such notifications must be made by March 15.

Whether they will go depends strictly on money.

But the district "is leaving the door open in case we have to make some adjustments," the district spokesman said.

The notices went to special teachers, principals and all assistant superintendents and others who do not actually perform in the classroom.

One district in northern California notified all of its personnel—in the hundreds.

problems of controlling large concentrations of seventh and eighth grade pupils in open-plan school situations seems to be a major obstacle to the educational report program.

At the same time, he added, the seventh and eighth graders are not quiet ripe for a full-fledged high school-type program.

The shift would enable an extensive elective program, and allow better use of teacher specializations, Morganti explained.

Admministrators are still working on the actual pupil numbers to be involved, Morganti said, but indicated Ortega possibly would take on a load of 535 pupils. It has 681 now.

Morganti said a firm recommendation will be made to the board March 23.

D.C. Stabbing Suspects Are Sought

Daly City police are continuing their investigation into the stabbing of a young San Francisco man Sunday on Geneva Avenue near the Cow Palace.

Fau Eddy, 21, of Brookdale Street, told police he was sitting inside his parked car in the 2900 block of Geneva Avenue about 1 p.m. waiting for a friend when three men approached him.

One of the men charged Eddy with "messing with my wife" and reached through the window and plunged a knife in his left leg.

Before an unidentified neighbor, attracted by the screams, could come to Eddy's aid the attacker had stabbed him several more times in the same leg.

The suspects, described as three white male adults, ran off on arrival of the citizen, police said.

Eddy was treated and released at Mary's Help Hospital after the attack.

STEVE HELFER, a 26 year old pharmacist, has assumed his new duties of the Walgreen Super Center in Millbrae. He previously managed the Burlingame store for two years.

and that to bulk them into total dollars gives a "completely erroneous" figure.

What should be considered, Downen said, is how district monies will be spent for better education for children.

Board of trustees' proposals have not been made public. Greenwood said he was willing, but the district's negotiating firm has refused.

Greenwood explained that a spokesman for the firm did not want to make the items public until the board approved them.

Individual board members have the proposals, Greenwood said, and they were given to the Certificated Council for negotiation last week.

Two Holdup Suspects in Custody

Arraignment was set yesterday in South San Francisco for two men identified as the robbers of a San Bruno liquor store on February 9.

The men, Arthur V. Bornn Jr., 23, of San Francisco, and Mark A. Sharp, 22, of Lennox, Calif., had been in custody of San Francisco authorities since February 10.

On that date they were arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents at San Francisco International Airport. They were attempting to board a plane with loaded weapons in their luggage, police said.

According to San Bruno police, the men were identified as robbers who entered Zanettis Liquors, 730 Kains Avenue, and ordered the clerk into the back room.

Crafts Area for Millbrae

Work on the addition of an arts and crafts area at Taylor School was started this week, the Millbrae School District Board of Trustees were told at their meeting on Monday at the District Conference Center in the Chadbourne School annex. The addition is expected to be completed by August 21.

It was also announced that a notice of completion is to be filed on the relocation of the water line at Taylor.

Board members expressed concern regarding the possibility of a statewide poperty tax, which could possibly result in increased taxes for the Millbrae School District. Additional information on this issue will be forthcoming from the district office shortly.

Members of the community have been working with teachers and administrators in formulating a philosophy and goals for the district, and their recommendations were briefly presented to the board. According to Dr. Rufus Clapp, director of education and research for the district, the business community and members of the City Council will also be asked for their opinions in ranking the educational goals, and the board offered to meet with a group studying the proposals, in order to add their choice of goals and statements of philosophy.

8 Firms Vying for SSF Study

By BOB PETERSON

Eight firms are vying for an opportunity to do a feasibility study as to whether the South San Francisco police station should be expanded, or replaced.

City Manager Gale Dreisbach and Police Chief Sal Rosano have been instructed by the councilmen to review space needs with all eight.

After reports are received, the top three firms will be submitted to the council for a final selection.

Chief Rosano explained that in keeping with a council directive of November 16, he contacted the American Institute of Architects (AIA), asking them to submit a list of architects qualified and experienced in the design of police facilities.

The AIA initially submitted five names, Welton Becket and Associates, San Francisco, DeLong, Lundberg and Associates. Burlingame, Robert Wayne Hawley and Associates, Berkeley, Robert B. Wong and Milton T. Pfluegen, both of San Francisco.

Chief Rosano said the AIA submitted the sixth name of Markling, Yamasaki after the chief asked for any South San Francisco-based architects. Markling, Yamasaki designed the $30,000 Pacifica facility.

Kirker, Chapman and Associates and George Avanessian and Associates, both of South San Francisco, according to Chief Rosano, submitted letters of interest on their own.

Councilman Frank Bertucelli said, "I pushed to get local architects." He and Mayor Patrick Ahern originally indicated they wanted to give Kirker, Chapman an opportunity to participate.

"There aren't too many architects that have done police stations," said Bertucelli. Chief Rosano responded that the AIA was prepared to send a list of 50 names.

Mayor Ahern said. "An architect is supposed to be able to design anything. All they'll do is go look at another police facility, anyhow."

Chief Rosano said an architect with experience will be able to give a more sophisticated (price) estimate on needs.

According to the chief, present estimates indicate a need for 35,000 square feet of additional space. This will include construction of a new jail, and supposedly take care of police facility needs for the next ten years.

The present facility covers 7,000 square feet.

Chief Rosano said that should the county decide to allocate funds for a jail facility in the North County. South San Francisco would not build one.

The chief said he'd rather the county build a facility because he felt the County Sheriff should provide that service.

Hospital Chief Charges Govt. Is Forcing Rates Up

The federal government is forcing hospitals throughout the country to raise patient care cost, an official of Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City charged.

Rex Chase, chief administrator of the hospital, made the allegation in the wake of a U.S. Department of Labor suit filed against several Bay Area hospitals for alleged violations of the national wage-hour law.

The suit, filed in federal court in San Francisco earlier this month by the Labor Department, charged Mary's Help Hospital along with other San Francisco and East Bay hospitals, with violating the equal pay and overtime provisions of the national wage-hour law.

The department asked the court to enjoin the hospitals from further violations and to pay back wages due certain categories of employes, area director of the Labor Department John Silver said.

Specifically the suit involving Mary's Help centers around the pay difference between hospital orderlies and aids.

Chase explained that "aids" are usually women and "orderlies," because of the nature of their work, are in most cases men. Orderlies, regardless if they are women or men, are expected to assume duties that exceed the role of aids, he said.

Orderlies at Mary's Help receive some 6 cents more per hour than aids, Chase explained.

And this is what the Department of Labor is aiming at.

Mary's Help Hospital, which is a member of the Bay Area Affiliation of Hospitals, reached the aid vs. orderly pay scales through collective bargaining with Local 250 of the Hospital and Institutional Workers Union. This difference in pay has been in effect since the mid-1950's according to past contracts.

Starting salary for orderlies is $3.02 per hour compared to aids whose starting scale is $2.97 per hour. Top bracket is $3.40 and $3.34 per hour respectively.

Chase said he was "confused" by the government's position on the matter.

"We reached these pay agreements through collective bargaining," he said. "We intend to vigorously defend ourselves in this lawsuit."

The matter will be decided in the courts, Arthur Mendelson, attorney for Affiliated Hospitals said.

"We think it is outrageous that the Wage and Hour Division (of the U.S. Labor Department) would force hospitals to expend large sums of money and amounts of time to defend themselves against this relatively small difference . . . which has been established through collective bargaining," Mendelson said.

No costs for Mary's Help Hospital have been set if they lose the lawsuit. However, Chase said it would be "incidental."

Although the Affiliated Hospitals are fighting the suit together, if the government wins its case each hospital will assume its own costs for back wages, it was explained.

Three Jailed in Theft of Rifles, Guns

South San Francisco and San Francisco police joined March 8 in an effort to recover 28 rifles and shotguns valued in excess of $30,000, and arrested three men for their theft.

Booked on charges of possession of stolen property and possession of concealed weapons were William Preston, 35, a San Francisco coin dealer living at 56 San Benito Road, Brisbane; Tom Desch, 27, and Jack Valentine, 25, both San Francisco bartenders living at 334 Hyde Street, San Francisco.

According to police, the weapons, taken from the Royal Inn Hotel, South San Francisco, on January 13, were recovered at the Brisbane and San Francisco addresses and in Oakland. All weapons were recovered, police said.

South San Francisco police said the guns, were "prototype, one-of-a-kind guns" owned by Ithica Gun Company of New York. They were part of the Cow Palace Sport and Boat Show, according to police.

The arrest followed a lengthy investigation after the weapons were removed from a locked room where they were left after being on display, police said.

Patchwork Project at Oyster Point Planned

South San Francisco and that city's scavenger company are hustling to find concrete, hoping to please the Water Quality Control Board (WQCB) with immediate patchwork on the Oyster Point solid waste landfill.

The WQCB has been keeping the pressure on about the dump site since last year when it was responsible for pollution of the Bay.

City Attorney John Noonan is emphatic in pointing out that the dump is no longer polluting the Bay. He just as emphatically Wednesday night urged that the city and scavengers make a "good faith" showing to the WQCB that they intend to keep from polluting in the future.

The city is scheduled to meet with the Attorney General on March 19. Purpose of the meeting is to show that the city and scavengers are, in fact, taking steps to correct the instability of the dump.

George Stagnaro, president of the South San Francisco Scavenger Company, said the WQCB wants a positive commitment from the city and scavengers, including a time schedule, on what they intend to do to correct the situation.

The plan is to take concrete and place it in a two-foot thickness along the noth slope of the dump. This initial procedure is to be followed by flattening the existing slopes on the south and east side by removing part of the fill.

Stagnaro said he has attempted to fine someone willing to take on the job. According to Stagnaro, no one will quote him a price.

Noonan felt sure that stability can be assured with a four-to-one slope through the removal of some of the fill.

This method is one of four submitted by the firm of Gribaldo, Jones, hired to do tests on the stability of the dump site.

Estimated cost of the sloping would be dependent upon the slope ratio. If the slope were four-to-one the cost is estimated at $55,000. If the slope were to go to eight-to-one, the cost was estimated at $240,000.

Dave Dunham of the consultant firm said chances of failure were less with the greater slope. He said also that if failure does occur, it would be relatively simple to repair and prevent pollution of the Bay.

A second proposal was to remove up to eight feet of fill from off the entire top of the dump. This was estimated to cost more than $500,000.

The third proposal was to build a dike, estimated at one time at more than a million dollars. And a fourth proposal was to provide chemical stabilization. This would be done by injecting a chemical into the materials. Cost was not mentioned.

SSF Effort to Get State to Pay for 380 Link Fails

An effort by South San Francisco Councilmen Wednesday to ge the state to pay for a road extension to connect with planed Interstate 380 reached a ded end.

State Highways Engineer Leo Trombatore said, "There is no gal way we can justify it."

The city had prepared three ternate plans of possible roads om the city's industrial park ea to connect with the freeay as it bypasses South Airrt Boulevard.

Mayor Patrick Ahern pointed t that the city had even reined a consultant — Donald oodrich of Peat, Marwick, itchell and Company of San rancisco — to prove that such extension was necessary.

The city's stand is that the eeway will mean, an additionburden on already overloaded uth Airport Boulevard.

Trombatore said projections dicate that by 1990 there will be no more cars on South Airport Boulevard than today, and possibly 2,000 fewer cars.

The new road was originally proposed to be an extension of Harbor Way. This full-width 50-foot road was estimated to cost $727,817.

Another alternative is for a 50-foot roadway extending off Corey Way. This extension was estimated to cost $623,942.

A third alternative, estimated at $614,301, was for parallel one-way roads of 20 foot width, one from Harbor Way, the other from Corey Way.

S.S.F. Man Arrested

San Bruno police arrested a South San Francisco man Saturday on suspicion of burglary, possession of stolen property, a concealed weapon and marijuana, plus traffic warrants.

Booked was Robert J. Howell, 20, of 129 Clay Ave. He was scheduled to be arraigned this morning at Northern Judicial Court, South San Francisco.

CSM Pupils Raised $14,000 for Drive

Students leaders announced March 10 they will turn over approximately $14,000 to the board of trustees to help pay for San Mateo Junior College District's March 2 emergency tax election.

The money was raised in fund drives conducted at Canada College, College of San Mateo, Skyline College and various high schools throughout the county.

Francis W. Pearson Jr., a member of the college board, praised the students involved for exhibiting "Americanism at its best." Speaking at a meeting of the trustees on the Canada campus, he noted that the student effort has offset nearly one-quarter of the estimated $60,000 required by the county government to conduct the election.

The board earlier had raised evening college registration fees $3 a course for the current spring semester to amass additional funds for defraying the election bill.

Robert Miller, cochairman with Tim Tatman of the Concerned Students of Canada College, reported a net of $7171 had been raised by drives mounted on that campus. George Cary, student body president at CSM, said the effort there had realized $3622. Dennis Arreola, student body president at Skyline, added that while final figures were not available on the North County campus, he was sure the total would exceed $3000.

It was agreed last week there will be no immediate action toward selecting a new president for College of San Mateo.

Clifford G. Erickson, San Mateo Junior College District chancellor, also announced that he was withdrawing a proposed procedure for screening candidates for the post which he had intended to submit to the board of trustees.

He added he will bring his recommendation back to the board—"if appropriate"—after decisions have been reached on the district's overall 15 per cent cut in administrative costs pledged by the trustees during the recent tax election campaing.

Dr. David H. Mertes, dean of community services at CSM, is serving as acting president, in addition to his regular job—at no raise in pay. He temporarily took over the responsibilities Monday, following the departure of Dr. Robert L. Ewigleben, president since 1968, who returned to his native Michigan to become president of Ferris State College.

During the meeting it was also made public that two of Dr. Ewigleben's key aides at CSM—Dr. William Wenrich and George Hartford—are resigining to join him at Ferris State.

Auto Crash Victim Dies

Nello J. Checchi, 58, of 2840 Altamont Drive, San Bruno, victim of a head-on collision on Skyline boulevard in South San Francisco on February 16, died Saturday at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

Killed in the accident, according to Highway Patrolmen, was William David McCoy, 17, of 660 MacArthur Drive, Broadmoor Village. A third vehicle was involved, but the driver escaped injury, according to officers.

Jefferson Teacher Proposals Could Cost $4,729,165

By WILL THOMAS

Initial 1970-71 teacher proposals could cost the Jefferson Elementary School District $4,729,165, including three new campuses, according to Supt. Frank Greenwood.

Greenwood made the teachers' proposals for revisions of the 1970-71 Memorandum of Agreement public this week.

He also presented his estimates of what it would cost the district to implement such a program:

Classroom load reduction and salaries for 56 new teachers, $636,638; capital outlay for new schools, $2,600,000; secretarial help for teachers, aides, $300,000; library, $111,000; nurses, $8,000; art resource teachers, $12,000; remedial reading, $23,000; educationally handicapped, teacher, $20,000; leave benefits, $90,000; salaries, $766,000; insurance, $147,557; summer school, $15,000.

Associate Supt. Roger Barthuli, quickly computing the capital outlay figure, pointed out that 56 teachers would require the construction of at least three new schools. The district already has 21 schools and an already-prepared site.

Salaries, also, as in the past, would have a great impact on the district's budget. Trustees early last week froze all salaries, however.

The additional teachers would come from reduction of classroom loads proposed by the Certificated Council.

The teachers want no more than 20 pupils in any single primary class and no more than 30 in any class in all other grades.

(Current levels: 33 in kindergarten, with an average of no more than 31; and 35 in all other classes and an average of 30 pupils.)

The list of revisions specifies that special area teachers would determine the maximum number of pupils per class for their own special areas.

The teachers also would require the district to furnish a "minimum of ten hours per week of paraprofessional help (teacher aides and clerical help)."

The JCTA wants fulltime librarians at each school, eight fulltime district nurses, two fulltime art resource teachers, eight fulltime speech therapists, nine fulltime music teachers and a fulltime remedial reading teacher at each school—along with four fulltime EMR teachers, five self-contained educationally handicapped classes and one learning disability teacher per school.

In most instances, the district this year has offered these specialists, although trustees this week ordered reduction in some areas to gain a balanced budget.

There are now 10½ librarians, seven nurses, one art resource teacher, eight speech therapists, nine music teachers, a remedial reading teacher at each school, five self-contained E. H. classes and a learning disability teacher for each school.

As of June 30, four nurses will be eliminated, and two music teachers and three librarians reassigned to classroom duties.

The teachers also have requested a cost of living increase based on U.S. Department of Labor computations for the period September 1, 1970-September 1, 1971.

They hope to have their dental coverage expanded to their dependents, and they proposed that both receive vision care, as well as $25,000 life insurance policies.

They also proposed that the district provide them with the CTA's Income Protection Plan.

The teachers seek 12 per cent of their regular salary for teaching summer school classes. They received 7.6 per cent last year.

The proposals are subject to Certificated Council-district negotiation. How firm they are is indicated by Ray Downen, the JCTA president.

He acknowledged last week that the school board starts out in negotiations giving nothing and the teachers by asking for more than they expect to get.

Three JESD Administrators Demoted; All Dstrict's Personnel Salaries Are Frozen

The Jefferson Elementary School District's Board of Trustees demoted three administrators, including the Director of Personnel, [illegible] Monday.

Trustees explained that the action was in line with a vow to live within the district's anticipated revenue.

The board at the same time announced the reassignment of five specialists and the curtailment of four nurses.

All of the changes are effective June 30.

District Supt. Frank Greenwood had recommended retention of the personnel director, Don Pagani, but he was overruled by trustees in a lengthy closed session prior to the regular meeting.

The elimination of Pagani's district-level position and his reassignment as a principal led to the "bumping" of Abraham Lincoln School principal Cliff Peterson to a vice principalship and of Ben Franklin Intermediate School vice principal James Sharpen to classroom teacher.

Greenwood said he had not determined to which schools the three would be assigned. Pagani is a former M. Pauline Brown principal.

The district also will eliminate the music consultant's position upon her retirement, reassign to the classroom three fulltime librarians and two music teachers eliminate the positions of four school nurses and two central office library assistants.

Greenwood said the district intends to release four custodians and perhaps all but five of the noontime playground supervisors. Advance notification is not required by law for these employes.

The board, however, was required to notify by March 15 members of its certified staff that they would not be rehired in their present positions.

All salaries were frozen at this year's levels.

Greenwood said the action actually will provide the district with $166,000 more revenue than anticipated expenses.

He said he is urging the sum be applied toward salary increments for employes, explaining that if the estimated 4 per cent increments are not given this year, they may be doubled the following term.

The funds also could be used to revive cutback programs or placed in reserve.

Greenwood said $188,000 is required to make the increment payments, but that Associate Supt. Roger Barthuli had indicated other savings — perhaps as much as $50,000 — might be realized since the board took early action on these particular budgetary items.

Greenwood, who announced his recommendations last week, came in for criticism from the president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, Ray Downen.

The Fernando Rivera School teacher said the JCTA's members "were astounded at the priorities."

He acknowledged that a complaint regarding the lack of administrative reductions had been resolved partially with the demotion of Pagani, but pointed out that teachers also were "astonished that at a time of increased drug abuse the superintendent would cut the nursing staff by one-half, but could find no way to reduce the cost of law care."

He added, "There were no reductions in community services (recreation) but reductions in librarians essential to the district reading program."

Downen rapped the superintendent, whose salary is in excess of $25,000 annually, for being "willing to cut teacher's lunch time, class preparation time and have them take a salary freeze." He explained, "In not recommending increment raises for teachers, he is in effect asking teachers to subsidize education in amounts from $475 to $950 per teacher."

License List Is Announced

The Daly City council scratched one organization from its list of authorized fireworks dealers and added an additional license because of population increases in the city.

The American Leigon Post, an organization that has been licensed to sell fireworks in the city in the past was denied a permit this year.

Two new names appeared on the list: Jefferson High School Booster Club, which needs revenus to purchase uniforms for the high school's marching band, and the St. Andrew's Church. The latter is known for its charity work.

Included on this year's list approved Monday are:

Police Athletic League, Marian Council-Knights of Columbus, Hope Lutheran Church, Congregation B'nai Israel, Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, Rotary Club of D.C. Holy Angels Men Club, Our Lady of Mercy's Men Club and Daly City-Colma Lions Club.

Permit Set for Quarry

Operators of the controversial Lone Star quarry west of Brisbane were given another 60-day permit Wednesday.

Members of the County Planning Commission agreed to grant only the temporary permit pending submission by Pacific Cemant and Aggregates and the Crocker Land Company of plans for ultimate use of the huge excavation when it is no longer used as a quarry. The plans are also to show a proposal for landscaping.

The permit granted last week was an extension of a 60-day permit granted in January. Staff members said that one-year and five-year operational plans, demanded when the January permit was granted, are satisfactory.

The plan for ultimate use of the site was requested because the quarry is to be phased out and closed down after five more years of operation.

County Law Enforcement

Chiefs Ask Proof Merger Is Answer

By BOB PETERSON

MOST SAN MATEO County Police chiefs said they would not object to consolidation if they can be shown logically it will mean a savings, or more efficient law enforcement.

One point kept recurring: Not enough credit has been given to all the things law enforcement already has done in the county toward consolidation.

An example is the county's participation in the Bay Area

Last of a series

Police Information Network (PIN). It is a records system conceived by a Bay Area Law Enforcement Information Control Study Committee. The group was composed of representatives of police agencies throughout the San Francisco Bay Area.

PIN, however, is limited in scope. It concerns only criminal and traffic warrants. When the cities of San Mateo County became part of PIN, the county assumed all costs.

San Mateo County also is one of eleven California counties making use of interjurisdictional teletype communications.

The mutual aid agreement is another means of coordination police chiefs point to. Although useful, this program does not necessarily improve the quality of law enforcement.

Some chiefs point to the fact their city already makes its vehicle purchases through a state program. In areas such as this, most chiefs recommend immediate implementation of a joint effort.

Police training, is recognized as a dire need. County law enforcement agencies have acknowledged this by seeking a live-in, full-time, military-type training institution. Policemen presently attend a series of classes at the junior colleges.

Another recent effort on the part of coordinating county law enforcement is the move to establish, through federal funding, a special narcotics squad to operate county-wide.

"I have my doubts a study will produce persuasive arguments favoring consolidation," said San Mateo Police Chief Martin McDonnell. "I can't get too excited about it just because a few members of the Grand Jury said it will work.

In Pacifica, Police Chief Mel Nelson reminded that each jurisdiction has different problems. "They probably could be handled on a precinct concept," said Nelson. "Yet the advantage of having live-in officers is still more desirable."

Police Chief Russell Fisher of Hillsborough said each taxpayer relates to his own police department, and he would cease to relate to it once it became consolidated.

"I question whether a minimal savings to the taxpayer is worth the loss of the personal touch," said Fisher. He said that while the quality of police service in one area may increase; quality in another would offset this by going down.

"Those people in the low crime areas would be losers," said Fisher. "You'd be penalizing them by limiting crime prevention in those areas to concentrate on a high crime area. This is what I would be concerned about."

Daly City Police Chief Roland Petrocchi said, simply, "Why the police?" He contends the talk of consolidation is making second-class citizens of policemen.

"The possibility of studying all facilities and all departments, from the schools to the fire department, would seem to have a greater savings," said Petrocchi. "Daly City has a two-year college education requirement. What would other cities do about that? It is bad taste and bad timing to start with the police department," said Petrocchi..

Daly City Mayor Bernard Lycett said, "Frankly I would be against consolidation of police departments.

"First I think that we have one of the finest police departments in the county. Second, it has been historical that when we have turned our services over to the county we don't seem to let our share of what's coming. I have to go on past performances," said Lycett.

The mayor added that a study could change his mind.

In Millbrae, Councilman Jim O'Connor said he would be "the first to be extremely protective of local law enforcement."

Mayor Bill Glang of Millbrae said a city should be able to stand investigation at any time. "I'm suspect if anyone says 'don't I'm perfectly all right.' But I would like all the facts in on whether consolidation is warranted," said Glang.

Cities just don't want to give up jurisdiction or control over policy, making total consolidation difficult.

Burlingame City Manager Charles Schwalm suggested that there's probably an optimum size, population-wise, for a city to be efficient and where people are close to the local government.

"No one has set this size that I know of," said Schwalm. "But cities are like people. They have different personalities. It's difficult to change a personality. If it's lousy, you may want to associate with someone you think has a better one."

The question remains. Should local rapport between the resident and the police be sacrificed for a less expensive and more efficient police service to everyone in the county?

New S.M. County Library

One hundred and 28 of the new titles purchased by the San Mateo County Library System are briefly annotated on a list available at Brisbane, Pacifica, El Granada, and Millbrae Libraries.

The selection committee chose these and 1089 others:

GARGOYLES, by Thomas Bernhard, about an Austrian doctor who invites his visiting son to accompany him on his rounds through rural villages; their attempt at intimacy ends as a demonstration of irremediable human solitude.

MANDALA, by Pearl S. Buck. A story of reincarnation and love.

A GAME FOR EAGLES, Oakley Hall. A Latin-American espionage-intrigue story with first rate stylistics and a sure grasp of organization. The trip is full of pace and variety.

THE BIG EASY, James Conaway. In this short, fast-paced and absorbing novel set in New Orleans, the author creates a high impact portait of a city and of a man who becomes trapped in racial conflict. Probes deeply into the texture of the contemporary South.

THE LIAR, by Martin A. Hansen. Sonata of an imaginary little Danish island. Awaiting spring, the schoolmaster, Johannes, "the liar," lives his lonely life. The island, surrounded by sea and ice and the magic of nature, houses for awhile a human drama, then the characters depart.

They hope to have their dental coverage expanded to their dependents, and they proposed that both receive vision care, as well as $25,000 life insurance policies.

They also proposed that the district provide them with the CTA's Income Protection Plan.

The teachers seek 12 per cent of their regular salary for teaching summer school classes. They received 7.6 per cent last year.

The proposals are subject to Certificated Council-district negotiation. How firm they are is indicated by Ray Downen, the JCTA president.

He acknowledged last week that the school board starts out in negotiations giving nothing and the teachers by asking for more than they expect to get.

THE MARQUEE

Rock Hudson in the nude? Not likely, and by his own admission. The handsome 45 year old super-star whose name has been among the top ten box office favorites for two decades told me at Trader Vic's last week that he'll look unclothed in his upcoming film "Pretty Maids All In A Row" but it's camera trickery focusing above the waist and below the knees. The film will open early April.

He's been a symbol of clean living and morality for so long, he's not about to be seduced into cheapening himself now, especially since his career is doing so well without it.

"Perhaps if I was 25 years old and had a fabulous body I'd do it but nudity just isn't for me. I have trouble even taking my shirt off in public," the six-foot-four-inch, actor kidded.

His reasons go deeper than that. He's devoted to his mother and wouldn't do anything to embarrass her. His life style precludes criticism; his best friends include Doris Day with whom he made some of his biggest successes—"Pillow Talk" and "Lover Come Back"—and he owns one of the largest collections of sacred and religious recordings. He is an avid sailor (although he sold his boat several years ago) and formerly made his home at Newport Beach. He's also an expert bridge player.

As it is, he's concerned about his mother's reaction to the film directed by Roger Vadim in which he plays a high school football coach and student guidance counselor, happily married to Barbara Lee but having side affairs with high school girls.

"The point is, he tries to prove that if you can teach a student to love, he'll do better academically. It is a comedy about sex but it's tastefully done on a subject that could be dirty."

After 19 years on contract to Universal, the Illinois born actor finally got away from "pretty boy" films and steered himself into a different image. The one role he tried unsuccessfully is that of a buffoon or a fool as in "Man's Favorite Sport."

"I'm just too big, I can play the devil but not the loser, the kind of roles Jack Lemmon and Charlie Chaplin play. My fans just won't buy it," he said.

The man isn't conceited in the least. He was only too happy to sign autographs for the waiters and speaks humbly of his career.

"I admitted I couldn't act in the beginning. But I studied and used all those early Universal films like a factory where I could try out different things and if they didn't work, discard them. I just figured people wouldn't go to see those films."

Now embarking on a singing career, Rock has joined forces in a production company with composer-singer-poet Rod McKuen and will record religious hymns, Christmas songs and western ballads. He'll also do an album of spoken poetry by McKuen on Stanyan label. They have bought a book titled "Chuck" for which McKuen is writing the script, about a man who finds out he has a 21 year old illegitimate son.

He's been studying singing and would love to do a musical. One of the few occasions the public heard his voice was in that celebrated Oscar Awards telecast when he sang "Baby, It's Cold Outside" with Mae West. He's completed a McKuen album titled "Rock Gently."

He was filming in San Francisco recently for a two hour television show entitled "MacMillan And Wife" in which he plays a police commissioner. One of the exciting scenes involves a bicycle chase down a steep San Francisco hill.

Jefferson Elementary Trustees Open Drive

By WILL E. THOMAS

Campaigning in the Jefferson Elementary School District trustee election contest shifted from the informal living room coffee clatch last week to the public candidates' night.

Six Parent-Teacher Association units sponsored the community's (Daly City-Colma) first forum, which was lightly attended, at the Garden Village elementary school.

Five of the JESD candidates appeared. They were Beverly Forrester, Gordon Cartwright, Thomas Kilpatrick, Harry Smith and Emma Arieta. Incumbent Edward Tomasello, unable to attend, wrote a letter, which was read by moderator Glenn Forcum, the Garden Village principal.

Tomasello, presently the JESD board chairman said the district has a "sound educational program," despite financial problems.

He said the district should not rest on its laurels, but attempt to improve its educational programs.

Tomasello promised that his four-point program of accountability, management, master planning and tax reform would be detailed soon.

A City of Daly City recreation superintendent, Tomasello is seeking re-election to one of the two seats to be filled in the April 20 election. Veteran trustee Joseph Lewkowitz is retiring after 18 years' service.

Candidate Emma Pruitt Arieta, 45, a former San Francisco and Novato English, history and physical education teacher, who lives on Hillside Boulevard, explained that "she believed in people, especially our youth," and that she had adopted a guideline. "There are no problem children, but too many children with problems."

Housewife Beverly Forrester, at 32, has been a Daly City resident eight years, and she and her pharmacist husband, Dr. Peter Forrester, have two children and two teen-aged foster children.

She is active in Jefferson Council of P-TA and Vista Mar P-TA activities, as well as Girl Scouts and the League of Women Voters, and has missed "only one" JESD board meeting in two years.

Gordon Cartwright, active Daly City Host Lions Clubber, who has lived in the area 18 years, has three children. He is in charge of personnel and purchasing for a funeral home.

He also is active in the Thomas Edison School Planning Council, the P-TA, Cubs and Explorer Scouts.

"My interest is in the community's present and future," he said.

Tom Kilpatrick, and his wife Joan have lived in the JESD since 1962, with a son in the fourth grade. A daughter attends Serramonte High.

He is an associate professor of physics at San Francisco State College and previously taught science and mathematics at the Universities of Hawaii and Colorado.

Kilpatrick was chairman of last year's citizens' advisory committee on district philosophy and has attended Board of Trustee meetings regularly in recent months.

Harry Smith is a newcomer to public view, much the same as Mrs. Arieta. Like her, he has only recently started attending board meetings, and unlike Cartwright, has never sought a trusteeship before.

Smith is a retired Marine officer who has lived in Daly City four years. He has four children and he lists his occupation as a financial consultant, with military service in the areas of logistics, finances, and transportation.

Smith said he sees "more good things than bad" in the district and he urged an "optimistic viewpoint" toward district education.

He added that family and job pressures prohibited him from getting involved in the community previously.

In response to a question specifically asked of him, Smith said he believed school board races to be political.

Other questions were aimed by moderator Forcum at each of the hopefuls.

On the topic of tenure, only two responded that "the present law is good." Professor Kilpatrick saw both commendation and teacher protection in it.

Teacher Arieta said she thought she and other teachers could be fired for incompetency.

Smith, noting that he has "never seen any teacher fired who was a good teacher," expects modification, and hopes teachers will start policing themselves. Candidates Forrester and Cartwright shared the view.

The aspirants were unanimous in their condemnation of teachers who would use "four letter words" in their classrooms of young students.

The action, they all agreed, should be an initial censure followed by dismissal if the conduct were to continue.

Kilpatrick wanted to be certain, however, that proper hearings were conducted and all facts examined.

"A teacher with good professional ethics wouldn't be using them," Mrs. Arieta contended.

Each candidate was quizzed about study sessions, which are not now conducted by JESD trustees.

All agreed there is a need for them, but one — Smith — disagreed on their conduct.

While other trustee hopefuls outlined advantages to public study sessions, at which there could be informal and presumably uninhibited communication among trustees, administrators and citizens on topics, Smith said such sessions should be private.

Mrs. Forrester later explained that the law prohibits them from being secret.

Smith commented that the district should teach the children to be objective and how to think.

"Children sometimes grow up despite us," he said.

Professor Kilpatrick said there was a need to teach the basic skills of reading and mathematics.

Mrs. Forrester expressed a concern over and a need for strengthened community relations, while Cartwright in a similar vein hoped for improved mutual trust among the teachers, the board and the community.

"Find out what's going on in the classroom," urged Mrs. Arieta.

KERRI'S WINS

Kerri's Coffee Shop defeated Vesta Carpet, 78-56, and Ampex, 57-35, to win the Class D tournament sponsored by the Sports Association of Northern California Recreation Agencies last week.

A GOLD, DIAMOND-STUDDED key, valued at $5,000, opened the New Granat Bros. jewelry store in the new Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno last week. Among those present to officiate at the opening were (left to right) Sanford Wolfson, Granat Bros. president; Jim Froster, Granat Bros. Tanforan outlet manager; Hap Smith, Tanforan Park developer; Lorraine Dinsmore, Miss 747, Dan Risso, San Bruno Chamber of Commerce president, and Miss San Bruno.

Foster City Home for Newlyweds

The Chapel at the Convent of the Society of Helpers in San Francisco was the setting for the marriage of Veronica Pack and Lt. John J. Feeehan Jr., (USN).

The couple, who honeymooned in Palm Springs, is now living temporarily in Foster City until the bridegroom is stationed in Japan.

Rev. Alfredo del Rio of Mexico City, the bride's uncle, and Rev. Howard Rasmussen concelebrated the nuptial Mass. Only members of the immediate family were present for the service which was followed by a reception in the Golden Gate Room in the Bank of America World Headquarters Building in San Francisco.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pack of Daly City, recited her vows in a traditional white floor-length gown.

Yvonne Pack attended her sister as maid of honor and another sister, Rosalyn Pack, was the secondary attendant. Both were similarly gowned in floor length tangerine costumes. A floor length gold and green floral frock was worn by Michele Belarde, the bride's cousin, who served as flower girl. Her brother, Joey Belarde, carried the rings.

Lt. George S. Phillips (USN) was best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Feehan of Bayone, N.J., who were unable to attend. Representing them were Mr. and Mrs. William O'Neil of San Leandro, cousin of the groom.

Lt. Larrry Heath (USN) seated the guests.

The new matron was educated at Jefferson High School and the University of San Francisco School of Nursing. She is affiliated with Sigma Theta Tau, the national nursing honor sorority.

John was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy at Anapolis. Patricia, Margaret and Elizabeth Feehan are his sisters.

Residents Recite Promises

Karen L. Grado, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Grado of Daly City, recently became the bride of David McNeilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNeilly of Burlingame.

Lynette Pierce served as the maid of honor and secondary attendants were Linda Giovannetti, Nancy Hoem, Rosemary McNeilly, sister of the bridegroom, and Susan Jackson. They all wore ruby red velvet and pink chiffon gowns.

Jim McNeilly stood with his brother as best man and guests were seated by William Hicks, Doug Alexander, Edward Morris and Mike Tufo.

The new Mrs. McNeilly is the sister of Anthony Grado Jr. and David Grado. Her husband also is the brother of Robin McNeilly.

Five Serramonte Students Are S.F. Junior Achievers

Several students in the Daly City-Colma area participate in the Junior Achievement program.

Junior Achievement, a nonprofit organization, operates out of centers to give basic business experience to interested high school students.

The program year, which starts in October, begins with the formation of a company. The achievers pick a product and select a name; they sell stock to get capital, buy materials and make their products.

This goes on throughout the year until they are forced to liquidate during the final weeks of April—paying back to the stockholders a dividend for their share of stock.

From the beginning of this year, Grapetel (one of the many J.A. companies in the San Francisco center, located at 1455 Bush Street) has attended all of the Trade Fairs and sales rallies.

Soon some of the Achievers in the company will participate on a snow trip to Squaw Valley, which is open to all achievers.

Keith Thomas, Carolyn Manbert, Rush Manbert, Mary Vassar and Marc Thomas are among the Serramonte High School students who participate in Junior Achievement.

Also on the program will be a young person, who will describe his encounters with drugs.

'Outstanding Teens'

Four South San Francisco High School students have been selected as Outstanding Teenagers of America for 1971, according to Principal Thomas J. Gaffney.

Selection for the Outstanding Teenagers awards program automatically qualifies these students for further state and national scholarships and honors. The South San Francisco High nominees are: Gene Mackey, Carol Baskin, Helen Gubbins, and Katie Coy.

These students are chosen for excellence in community service and academic achievement and will now vie for the Outstanding Teenager of the Year Trophy to be presented by the state's governor. State winners are chosen by the Outstanding Teenager Awards Selection Committee.

From among the 50 state winners, one boy and one girl will be chosen for the national scholarship prize of $1,000 to attend the college or university of their choice.

Under the guidance of the Board of Advisors, the Outstanding Teenagers of America program was created in 1967 to encourage young people to take full advantage of the opportunities in America. The awards are presented annually, and biographies of all those honored are recorded in an annual volume.

Mrs. Vieira, Mrs, Hoover Honored by Webster P-TA

The Daniel Webster School Parent-Teachers Association presented Honorary Service Awards to Mrs. Robert Viera and Mrs. Charles Hoover last week.

The awards were presented at the P-TA's Founder's Day program, which also included entertainment by Webster and Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School pupils.

Mrs. Robert Vieira was honored for her work in the community, including Epilepsy Society, retarded children, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts activities, and work as a catechism teacher.

Mrs. Hoover's award was accepted by unit president, Mrs. R. Tognoli. Mrs. Hoover who was absent, has worked in the Jefferson Elementary School [illegible] been secretary at Daniel Webster for six. She was honored for her work "above and beyond the call of duty" as secretary.

The next regular unit meeting will be March 17 at 8 p.m., in the school multi-use room. The flag ceremony will be conducted by members of Girl Troop 194.

The officers nominated for nest year are:

THE Listening POST by Lyle Arnold & Alex Florea

As mentioned before, we've found that over 40% of hearing aid users have instruments not properly fitted to their requirements. So if you or someone close to you has an aid which is giving trouble, please bring it in. We will gladly analyze it free, without obligation, on our revolutionary Electometer 1001 diagnostic device.

It electronically tests both the performance of the instrument and its wearer's hearing, pinpoints the problem, and helps us determine how to correct it more accurately than ever before.

However, the computer is not the final answer. We take the client's age, environment, sensitivity and other factors all into consideration, too. There is no substitute for training and long experience.

SNOW TRIP

Cub Scout Pack 200 of Fairmont, Pacifica, recently went on a snow trip. The event was attended by 35 Cubs and eight fathers.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Top of the mornin', good cooks.

Whether we're Irish by good luck or Irish by choice, it's the day for the wearing of the green and for a bit of corned beef and cabbage. The markets are doing their bit to celebrate the day with enticing displays of corned beef, firm round heads of cabbage, turnips, carrots, potatoes, onions and beets; everything that's needed for a feast.

In the O'Norton household, no corned beef and cabbage dinner is complete without Irish soda bread. The grandest recipe around for this treat is this one.

IRISH SWEETSTAKES BREAD

¾ cup seedless raisins
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup butter
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
1 egg
1 cup sour milk

Rinse and drain the three-fourths cup rasins. Sift together the two cups flour, one tablespoon sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, half teaspoon soda and one teaspoon salt. Cut in the one-third cup butter with knives or pastry blender until mixture resembles a coarse corn meal. Stir in the raisins and one teaspoon caraway seeds. Beat the egg slightly and add to he cup sour milk. Make a well in the center of flour mixture and pour all the liquid in at once. Stir with a fork until flour is moistened. Don't overmix. Turn into a greased 8-inch round pan. Bake in 400-degree oven for about 20 minutes. Cut into wedges, serve hot with butter.

Makes 8 wedges.

FOR A DELIGHTFUL and different dessert for Paddy's Day serve Irish Coffee and Shamrock Cookies. For the non-coffee drinkers in your family you could serve ice cream with he cookies.

It would be wise to start the cookie baking early in the day as the dough has to chill for easier handling. In order to get the cookies more uniform in shape it's a good idea to cut a shamrock pattern from cardboard, being careful to cut a nice thick stem.

SHAMROCK COOKIES

1 cup shortening
4 cups all-purpose flour
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons soda
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons milk
2 eggs
½ teaspoon almond extract

Sift the four cups flour, one and one-half cups sugar, two teaspoons soda and half teaspoon salt into a large mixing bowl. Add the cup shortening and cut in with a pastry blender or knives until the consisency of small peas. Combine the six tablespoons milk with he two eggs and half teaspoon almond extract, beat lightly with a fork and pour into flour mixture. Mix well. Place in refrigerator and chill about 2 hours.

Heat over to 350 degrees. On lightly floured board roll out about one-third of the dough at a time, keeping the rest in refrigerator. Roll cookies ⅛" to ¼" thick. Using the cardboard pattern cut shamrocks with a sharp knife.

Using a large spatula, arrange cookies on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes. Frost with green sugar frosting. Approximately 6 dozen cookies.

THIS FROSTING can be spread on the cooled cookies or if you want a special "crackle-top" effect, spread just before cookie finishes baking.

PADDY'S SUGAR FROSTING

2 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk
1 to one and one-third cups sifted confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
Green food coloring

Heat the two tablespoons cream or evaporated milk and add to the cup confectioners' sugar, mix in the half teaspoon vanilla and enough green food coloring to make it a lovely Irish green. Spread on baked cookies.

For "crackle-top'" cookie, spread frosting on hot, partially baked cookies, about 3 or 4 minutes before they come from oven.

IRISH COFFEE consists of strong black coffee, Irish whiskey with whipped cream floating on top. If you don't have Irish whiskey substitute bourbon. (If you don't tell, the leprechauns won't tell.)

CORRECTION: In the Fruit Cocktail Cake featured in last week's column the amount of sugar was missing from the list of ingredients. The amount called for is 1 CUP.

The Jeff Scene

The Bagle and Bummers and Sinor's Sissies clashed in an exciting coed baseball game.

Unfortunately for the gallant Bummers, the Sissies managed to overcome, 18 to 8.

The Sissies previously were triumphant in a co-ed football game 14-0, but the Bummers have gathered their courage and tomorrow after school the two teams will clash in a revolutionary game of soccer.

DARCY BRIMEROSE, a junior from Westmoor, visited Jefferson last Wednesday, to observe classes in progress. Her visit was made possible through the Student Affairs Committee, a sub-committee of the District Planning Council.

Lynda Lutge and Noreen Gilmore were her guides, since they are the Jefferson representatives of the Committees.

JEFF AND OTHER high schools in the district, were visited by an accreditation team last week.

Metal Sculptor Hulsebus Shows at Periwinkle

Pacifica metal sculptor Robert Hulsebus is exhibiting candleholders at Periwinkle Art Gallery, 303 San Pedro Road, Pacifica, through April 6.

Noted for his wall hangings and free standing pieces, Hulsebus has turned to candle holders, because he says he feels they should be beautiful and individual, not mass produced.

The holders in the current show range from futuristic conceptions which might conform to the ideal house of 2000 A.D. to more than a dozen candle holders which would blend well with any decor.

Hulsebus has won prizes in the San Mateo County Floral Fiesta and the Pacifica Art Guild during the past year. He is currently offering sculptures through the gallery in Pacifica, the Harbor Art Guild in Half Moon Bay and the Garrett Gallery on Highway 1, south of Half Moon Bay.

YWCA Plans Course in Skin Diving

A course in cake decorating for beginners is again being offered in the Pacifica and Daly City areas by the YWCA.

Because of the popularity of this course in the past, registration must be completed by March 22.

A course by Rosalind's Wig Boutique, "All About Wigs," also will make its debut this term, beginning with a wig party at the War Memorial Building April 8, at 7:30 p.m.

A course in styling and home wig care will be offered April 12, at 7:30 p.m., with a complete display of quality hair goods and a complete course in proper selection, styling and "do it yourself" home care.

Otto and Nell Krawetz are returning as the instructors for duplicate and-or supervised rubber bridge, (according to the wishes of the group).

Optional lessons may precede play for the evening. These evening classes will be on Friday evenings at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in San Bruno.

The most exciting course ever offered by the North County "Y", according to Director Justine Williams, will begin April 3.

"Learn to Skin Dive," with instructors Shirley Bowersmith and Dave Birnbaum, will be held at the 620 Sutter Street pool and includes two ocean field trips.

'Cave Dwellers' in Pacifica

By GRACE RYAN
Spindrift Players

Patrons attending the opening of "The Cave Dwellers" found themselves feeling the cold of an abandoned theatre which was the setting for the Pacifica Spindrift Players play.

The Oddstad Center's thermostat malfunctioned. But not so the cast!

Omitted from prior casting announcements was the part of the wrecking boss played by J. Stuart McIntyre. Stu managed in his small role, besides being sound director, to be a tough boss with humane feelings for the derelicts who had found refuge in the old theatre about to be razed.

Kathleen McIntyre (Stuart's wife) in her role as a dowager actress was most realistic with her movements and make-up, though occasionally one did detect her youth (she is 24) in the tone of her voice.

The King, who once was a famous vaudeville clown, was performed flawlessly by Bill Waxton (the only comment heard was "Do down 'n outers wear brand new socks? believe a hole in his sock would have added to comedy scene where he sas lost his shoe.")

A punchy ex-prize fighter named Duke was portrayed by Gary Nelson, who conveyed Sarayan's thought that one with a love of life cannot become a success if it means hurting someone.

Pamela Colton, as the girl, gave a delicate portrayal of love and understanding in surroundings totally strange to her.

Her silent lover, played by Ed Ray, first in a dream sequence and second as he arrives in reality, is handled with finesse.

Corky, the bear, behaved as any well trained bear should. Beneath the unique costume, Don German responded to his master's commands. Each entrance and exit of Jeff Colton and Corky were greeted with applause.

Easiest role of all was that of Alexander Brenke's, who, as the mother, spent most of her time in stage sleeping with her new born child in her arms.

Jim Grimon, a Terra Nova drama student, made his debut with the Players as Jamie.

The professionally done performance stems from fine direction of Bonnie Jesperson and her assistant, Dorothea Brenke.

Lighting was under the direction of Bern Hyman and his son, David.

There were times when the actors should have been more forceful in building up to their individed messages.

As theatrical people overemoting would be proper, since playwright Saroyan wished to impart the fact that all life is a theatre and the theatre should be a projection of life.

Miss Jeppson Wins Thespian Society Honor

Marilee Jeppson of Westmoor High School recently won first runner-up honors for the International Thespian Society's Region II scholarship program.

The International Thespian Society is an organization made up of directors, teachers and students of theatre arts. It was the first time a scholarship has been offered. A scholarship of $1000 went to the first place winner. Marilee has received an offer to attend a Region two Conference at Santa Barbara on April 4.

Marilee, a mid-term graduate of Westmoor, had to write an essay about all her past drama activities, get a recommendation from her drama teacher, principal, and the director of the club.

Acting as president, vice president, and secretary (at different times), Marilee, became an honor Thespian Life member. For over four years, she has been active in drama, acting in such school plays as "Spoon River," "Blithe Spirit," "American Dream" and also directing "The Miser."

She was a member of the Comedy Troupe as well as at Westmoor. She has also participated in about 12 church plays, both acting and directing them.

YOUNG MODELS—Shirley Miskie (right) and Denis Stathes (center) try out some of the styles they will wear for Fashions on Parade at 7 p.m., Thursday, at the Colma K-6 multi-use room. Also modeling in the event, sponsored by the Colma P-TA, will be Mrs. Betty Stathes (left). Fashions and refreshments will be by the sevent and eighth grades home economics class. (Starr Photo.)

Westmoor High Aces Win in Rock Festival

Westmoor's Rock Festival, sponsored by the Music Boosters, got off to a rousing start and ended on the same note. Only four of the five bands performed.

Winning the competition was the Aces, who had the audience taping their feet and clapping their hands to the Aces' lively music.

Competing with the Aces were the Huming Bird, second place winners, Max and Abba Zabba.

Trophies were given for individual and group performances, with each band taking home at least one trophy. Wayne Carter won the trophy for the best drummer, while best soloist was the honor captured by Dave Sanchez. Best lead guitar award was given to the player in Max while best rhythm guitar went to Humming Bird guitarist.

The Music Boosters are composed of Westmoor students and parents.

TO COMMEMORATE Black American Day and help refurbish their treasury, Westmoor's Black Student Union sponsored a Fashion Show and dinner on March 5.

Black American Day marks the day Crispus Attucks, a black patriot, lost his life in the Boston Massacre of 1770, when four others also lost their lives.

The spectators seemed to enjoy the show, in which 12 girls modeled selections from their own wardrobe, while fellow BSUers served as hostesses.

A $200 profit was realized.

"UNITY, THEN PEACE" is the way Roger Winston Human Relations Specialist said he feels, toward creating unity among today's black people.

Winston, of the San Mateo Union High School District, visited Westmoor High School to talk to interested students about creating a unity among today's black people and expanding the field of human relations.

His purpose, he said, is to create an understanding, so blacks could help one another with their individual problems in an effort to stay together.

He lectured that drugs constitute the main problem in the black ghettos today and through helping those strung out on drugs a better unity could be undertaken.

Through education, job training and by working on programs of human relations, the problem of unemployment and disunity could be set at a lower rate, he said.

THE FOSTER PARENT PRIGRAM at Westmoor High School for a number of years has supported a needy Foster child abroad.

Nujen thi Young; the foster child for the '70-71 school year, has become ineligible for funding because of her age (18) and now the task of selecting a new child has brought up much controversy in Student Congress.

The controversy has arisen because of Westmoor's student body's shortage of money. Many of the congress members agree that the foster parent program is worth while and would like to continue it, but explore the possibility of adopting a foster child in the United Staes.

Court Guesser

QUESTION OF THE WEEK — Who will take the post vacated on the Superior Court bench of Robert F. Kane appointed last week to the District Court of Appeal? Answer: Who knows? There is a raft of names floating around the county, including San Mateo Muni Judge William Lanam.

This name followed by other contenders for either post: San Mateo attorney Gerald Ragan (pronounced Reagan), Chief Deputy District Attorney Wilbur Johnson, and Redwood City Attorney Walter Harrington. Remembering, of course, that all do not meet the qualifications of living in the proper districts.

But one name is missing, as it has been for the past three years: Municipal Court Judge Charles Becker, a veteran of 13 years on the bench. Three times elected by the people, five times passed over, "ignored," if you like that word, by the Reagan Administration. Actually, not the Governor himself or Appointments Secretary Ned Hutchins, rather "someone" in the chain of command the Governor has set up to grade eligible persons for the judgeships Statewide.

EVERYONE ON THE LOCAL scene claims they like Judge Becker. He's the salt of the earth. Ask anyone. Well, maybe not everyone. But the percentage of those contacted by Yours Truly professed to support him for a Superior Court post. Why then this passover?. Is it a grudge by someone at State level (or local) that keeps dropping that black ball in front of his name? And if so, why?

IT'S AN ILL-KEPT secret that the secret investigation of Judge Becker by the Grand Jury some three years ago for "repairing" traffic tickets has brought the ire of many of his peers down on his head time and again. And we would be the last to even remotely suggest that other judges have done the same thing for their friends. Heaven forbid! On the other hand, could it be the suggestion of some parties hereabouts that Judge Becker lets offenders off the hook too easily? That he merely slaps them on the wrist, points out they committed a no-no, and wishes them a bon voyage? Perhaps.

THE LOCAL review board that has been set up in the county has spoke well of Judge Becker over the years. But there is now a "defeatest" attitude when one mentions Judge Becker's name in relationship to any Superior Court appointment. In talks with the judge himself this column was told his name isn't even on the eligible list that comes down from Hutchins' office for review. Strange indeed. If true, the judge is indeed out of contention for the Superior Court he has sought so long.

Checking out stories that his peers are frustrated over his alleged buffonery in the courtroom, we came up with a big fat zero. Becker also wonders why a defense attorney would find fault with a judge who would let his client off too easily — if Becker really does. It doesn't make much sense. On the other hand, it DOES make sense that prosecutors would be chagrined over what they consider overleniency on the part of a judge.

THIS COLUMN SHOULD not be misconstrued as being an endorsement of Judge Charles Becker for the Superior Court of San Mateo County. It is, in fact, intended to clear up some mighty muddied waters that are stirred up everytime a vacancy occurs on the Superior Court. Folks have wondered why the man they have elected to the Municipal Court Bench, the man that recently was selected as Presiding Judge by his peers, a man who slapped a smut peddler behind bars for selling dirty magazines (something most every other judge and prosecutor has shied away from) is purposely overlooked each and every time a vacancy occurs on the Superior Court.

Can it be true that politics have indeed been taken out of the business of selecting "qualified" persons for this post? Can we next ask what is meant by the word "qualified." If Judge Becker did indeed dismiss traffic tags for what he considered "only minor offenses and never for drunk driving or serious offenses" how long must he serve in purgatory?

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF — Superior Court Judge Frank Blum a grandfather for the first time. A baby girl . . . C. C. Police Chief Roland Petrocchi had a beautiful, potted plant in his office. Potted is right, because it's "pot." Roll your own . . . Featured speaker at the D.C.-Colma Chamber luncheon Thursday at Val's Redwood Room is San Francisco Supervisor Diane Feinstein . . . Cow Palace Director and Doelger VP Ed King at Mary's Help Hospital. Checkup.

Area Youth Involved in Red Cross

By LIN DAY

A program of youth involvement that spans the gamut of community concerns in the San Mateo County area has attracted tens of thousands of young people to serve and work in American Red Cross projects.

The youth activities range from tutoring to do-it-yourself motion pictures taken by not only high school but elementary grades children.

A summer camp in leadership —twenty-four delegates are chosen annually from high schools in the county — sparks the program, which is "curriculum-oriented," and has the active assistance of the entire Red Cross organization.

The Peninsula program is directed by two consultants — Mrs. Linda Nickel, in the Area from Daly City south to Belmont, and Mrs. Norma Brar, San Carlos to Palo Alto. It is part of a Bay Area "involvement" program.

As many as 40,000 youth could be involved in this county. They are active in a wide range of projects.

These include:

Ecology, helping elderly in the neighborhoods, filling friendship boxes for hospitals, convalescent homes, and referral centers, entertaining hospital patients, making tissue paper flowers for convalescent homes, making tray favors for hospitals, making collages and large permanent murals for agencies, making films and slides, showing student involvement in, and concern for the community, sending greeting cards to elderly or veterans, making rhythm instruments for children centers, writing and making flannel board stories, making Christmas decorations, making beanbags, etc.

These are all done by elementary school children.

High school students are involved in tutoring elementary children, conducting sewing projects for charitable agencies, gathering books, ecological material, and bottles and cans for recycling, giving parties for convalescent homes and children's centers, conducting weekend recreation programs for the disadvantaged, working with retarded children, and joining in cleanup drives.

A special project that has developed recently is assistance by Hillsdale High School students to South San Francisco Damien House—drop-in center which meets the drug problem head-on at student level.

This fall, the student body collected money which will go to the Damien House, in the form of recreation equipment and help finance other RCY projects.

A fairly new project in which both elementary and high school children and students participate is the annual Red Cross Film Festival, held in San Francisco. This year it will be held on March 7.

An outstanding entry last year was an 8mm film supplied by the fourth grade of Foster City elementary school, entitled "Search" and portraying ecology from a fourth grade point of view.

Last year — and they'll repeat the project this April — about 100 high school students from Hillsdale gathered to clean out the Foster City lagoon, removing 30 truckloads of debris.

The involvement program is spearheaded by a teacher or advisor in each school. Students volunteer during the summer to survey community charitable and other agencies and report their findings in a survey book turned over to Mrs. Nickel's regional office for use during the following school year. Projects are then arranged through conference with advisors.

The youth program now reaches the college level. There are currently two major youth programs in which college students join.

The teacher-aid program, developed in conjunction with College of San Mateo, has enlisted the time of students in the education classes, to assist teachers in elementary, high schools and special schools. About 90 college students are so involved.

A trial program conducted this year in conjunction with the CSM Sierra Club consisted of a series of nature hikes in Millbrae and South San Francisco. The results of the youth-health program are now under study.

From its leadership program, which starts with the participation of scores of elementary children in "elementary days" at the three Red Cross regional offices in this county, continuing with a high school week at Valley of the Moon, the Red Cross develops leaders who sit with the chapter and regional boards and continue in an adult leadership role.

"Involvement in the Red Cross today means youth in service and it means a more meaningful tomorrow in fulfillment of the goals each of us work toward," said Mrs. Nickel. "We have found that active Red Cross Youth and adults have bridged the generation gap in service and in compassion."

The '90-Day Wonders' of the Tax Field

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The first three months of the year—tax time—is a busy time for dozens of accountants and literally thousands of "90 day wonders" throughout the state.

The title of "90 day wonder" is used by accredited public accountants in discussing those individuals that emerge during the first three months of the year to help people prepare their income tax returns.

Each time the federal government revises its tax returns, seemingly dozens of new agencies sprout up to assist wage earners.

These "tax consultants" who prepare returns for as little as $5 are considered necessary, some fulltime accountants feel.

Without them, many taxpayers would be lost in a sea of governmental gibberish at tax time, it was explained during a recent interview with a certified public accountant.

Daly City CPA Alfred Belotz, a member of the Society of California Accountants and the National Society of Public Accountants, is one of the few members of his profession who will speak on the subject.

Most persons contacted politely, but firmly, refuse to discuss their operations with anyone.

Belotz is an exception.

While maintaining the privacy of his clients, Belotz explained operations of his offices at tax time.

He, too, agreed that in some cases there is a need for low cost tax service for wage earners who do not encounter any "unusual difficulties" in preparation of their returns and take standard deductions.

"If a taxpayer reads the instructions in the booklet and takes his time he can do (the return) himself," Belotz said.

What most people do not know is that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) encourages taxpayers to contact them if information relating to any portion of the form is needed.

"They think we are lying in the woods waiting for them to make a mistake," one IRS official explained.

It was suggested that a list of questions be prepared before making a phone call to the IRS office in order to save time. However there is no justification for hesitating to contact this federal agency when tax questions arise, the official said.

In many cases the IRS, besides enforcing tax laws, checks the mathematics involved with year-end taxes and often informs the taxpayer a mistake has been made—in his favor.

What is currently plaguing the IRS is the number of returns being received shoddy in appearance and incorrectly tabulated.

Anyone can make out a tax return form for somebody else and charge for this service. No special license is required.

A common sight during the months of February, March and April is the confusion of window signs, newspaper advertisements, and radio-television commercials telling of the merits of using this or that tax service.

It is illegal for CPAs and PAs to advertise this tax service under existing laws governing their conduct.

Larger income tax services, Benevest and H & R Block, the largest in the U.S., use a "guarantee" as a gimmick in selling their services to the public.

Both guarantee the mathematical accuracy of the returns they fill out and pledge to pay any penalties or interest charges resulting from any error they make in the calculations.

Some services will also aid a customer at no extra cost if the IRS questions the form. This does not mean they will accompany you to the nearest IRS office, but rather will go back over the form to insure it contains proper information as submitted by the taxpayer.

"Any CPA or PA will give you the same guarantee," Belotz said.

The government does not normally slap a taxpayer with penalties unless he is attempting to defraud the IRS.

Until last year Benevest undertook the losing proposition of advancing taxpayers refunds. As an affiliate of Beneficial Finance Corporation it seemed like a perfect relationship. No one will say exactly how many thousands of dollars Benevest lost in this venture which was ceased this year.

Others that started to follow suit gave up when it was clear they, too, might lose their shirts.

A phone call to a San Mateo County Benevest office revealed that when either refund or payment was in order they recommended a loan be made from Beneficial Finance.

Unless a person sits down and figures out the annual percentage rate it will cost, such a loan sounds like a good deal, especially during tax time.

The truth is: Finance charges on a personal loan cost about 18 per cent per year. The federal government charges a maximum of six per cent yearly.

In recent years chain department stores have jumped into the tax service market.

These stores claim it doesn't pay people to do their own tax—no matter how simple. This claim has been disputed time and again by public accountants and certified public accountants.

Most department stores offer customers this tax service and an opportunity to "charge it," as they would a merchandise purchase.

The booths are set up during the crest of the tax wave by independent agencies under an agreement with the stores.

The Independent Tax Corporation of West Covina, California, maintains its services with the Emporium chain. Sears-Roebuck & Company is another of the major chains now offering this service to customers.

"Don't waste time being your own tax expert . . . It doesn't pay to do your own!" the Emporium's tax pamphlet proclaims.

Many taxpayers use these services because for a few dollars they are obtaining professional help in preparing their forms.

The use of computers is promoted by almost every tax service and accounatnt.

They are used mainly to check out calculations on returns.

Charges range from $5 for simple cases up. This compared with a CPA or PA's charge of perhaps $25 for a similar situation.

Several accountants contacted revealed that on occasion they had advised persons with relatively simple tax matters to contact one of the many "tax consultants" rather than their offices.

These same accountants are quick to note the great majority of tax consultants are reliable and make an honest effort to assist taxpayers.

But they also warn that most are not accountants. Many are in other fields and do tax returns as a sort of "moonlighting" during the season.

The federal government recently began studying the tax consultant field. It wasn't pleased with some of the things the initial study turned up.

For one thing, it was learned some tax services collect and maintain a file of their customers and sell these listings.

Persons suddenly find they are on select mailing lists that often reflect their earning capacity.

The federal government is trying to make its tax return forms easier for taxpayers to fill out.

But the complaint of many taxpayers is that just when they get accustomed to one "simplified" form, Uncle Sam confuses them by making it even more simple.

Horrible Mouths

I went to a luncheon and saw there some Daly City civic and business leaders sitting quietly — perhaps in a state of mild shock — while a dentist described some horrible mouths he had seen.

His words recall the story of a young man who fell in love with one Urilla whose apparent beauty "whispered to his heart."

"'Twas said—'twas done—the fit occasion came.
As if to quench betimes the kinling flame
Of love and admiration — for she spoke,
And lo! The heavenly spell forever broke.
For when her parted lips disclosed to view,
Those ruined arches, veiled in ebon hue.
Hope, disappointed, silently retired,
Disgust triumphant came, and love expired.
Let every fair one shun Urilla's fate,
And awake to action, ere it be too late:—
Let each successive day unfailing bring
The brush, the dentifrice, and, from the spring,
The cleansing flood—the labor will be small,
Or, if her past neglect preclude relief,
By gentle means lite these, assuage her grief;
The dental art can remedy the ill.
Restore her hopes, and make her lovely still."

URILLA'S LOVER BECAME a denist, Dr. Solymon Brown, and wrote a book on care of the teeth that was published in 1933. Since then, lo, dentists by the score have written about the care, or the lack of care that Americans give to their teeth. Nevertheless tooth trouble remains a universal affliction.

A 1960 Editorial Research Report states that care of teeth is one of the most neglected practices in personal hygiene in America. One study showed that 180 million persons had at least 700 million unfilled cavities, an average of four each. Of this group only two out of five saw a dentist as often as once a year, and one out of six had never been to a dentist.

Upon surveying these facts and others Dr. Viron L. Diefenbach of the Division of Dental Health in the U.S. Public Health Service said that the nation's dental health is substandard and constitutes a major costly health problem. For example, in 1966 care for dental defects for men in the armed forces cost an average of sixty-three dollars per inductee.

A 1963-64 National Health Service Report found that nearly nine out of ten children under the age of five had never been to a dentist. As a result caries and abscessing, the chief tooth-destroyers of childhood, progressed unchecked.

Recent legislation and increased concern among dentists are making a dent into the problem, yet "neglect," writes Helen B. Shaffer, "is a giant pyramid of untreated disease which undermines the general health, mental wellbeing and economic productivity of our people."

In recent years several pamphlets have been published that provide information for the individual in caring for his teeth. Among them are publications from at least two bureaus of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Children's Bureau and the Division of Dental Health.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

A. Sabella's Restaurant Specializes In Banquets

Credit one of the many successes of A. Sabella's restaurant at Fisherman's Wharf to its phenomenal banquet business. One entire floor of the three-story structure is devoted to the catering of special functions. A. Sabella's has been a Fisherman's Wharf show place since its advent in 1920, with the business being handed down from father to son. In control of the operation now is personable Lucien Sabella, with his mother, Angelina, also playing an active part in the restaurant activities . . . At Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, South San Francisco, Hofbrau-style luncheons are served from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. Corey Champlin, formerly of the Lobster Trap, is the new Hofbrau chef who prepares the selective luncheon specials . . . The Munchies, a youthful group of talented musicians, are drawing big at The Aquarius, in downtown San Mateo. The dance action here (Wednesday through Sunday) can best be described as fast and furious.

HAPPY ST. PATRICK'S DAY TO ALL

Senior Citizen Dinner

Among the specials at Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken House (across from Hillsdale) is the Senior Citizen Dinner for only $1.25. Served Monday through Friday, 1:30 p.m. to 6 p.m., the special menu offers a different entree each day and includes tossed salad, vegetable, potatoes, roll and butter, jello, coffee or tea. If dining out is on your calendar tonight, the entree is Filet of Sole served with tartar sauce. Just show your Medicare Card for identification. And for all you "juniors," there's ample Farm-Fried Chicken (to eat in or take out), an incredibly wide selection of pancakes, breakfast items and complete dinners. And by all means, don't overlook the individual Chicken Pie, with flaky pastry crust and rich gravy, rolls with honey, Wild Blackberry Sundae and coffee — all for $1.75. "Foster's presents a selection of breakfast and dinner specialties that just can't be beat," says Manager Wilfrid Caldwell . . . Like most big men, Russell Reed (all 395 pounds of him), one of the big laugh riots in the Finocchio revue of female impersonators, is very light on his feet. Especially hilarious is his demonstration of a dancing humming-bird. His friends from all over the west drop in at ringside to join in the fun.

Superb Banquet Facilities

Erwin Best, who has operated the Benjamin Franklin Hotel for the past 23 years, takes pride in the fact he offers some superb banquet facilities: The Fireside Room can handle groups up to 300 persons. The Greenwillow dining room is also known for its reasonable prices. Under the supervision of executive chef Tom Delano, this comfortable room, which is open daily from 6 a.m. to 8:45 p.m., is well known for its many specialities. There are always five or six daily offerings to choose from in addition to the regular menu . . . When he isn't busy with his political chores, Nick Gust, Mayor of Pacifica, is tending to his complex of restaurants, located in Rockaway Beach on a picturesque stretch of beach. The oldest of these restaurants and a real solid favorite is Nick's, where family-style dinners are served every day of the week. Open from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m., this is a popular gathering place for large Sunday morning breakfast parties. Dancing to the Del Carlo Combo is a Friday and Saturday feature. Sweet Mary Ann Hay sits in on vocals and adds happiness to the scene with her sunshine smile. Providing organ music on the other evenings is Joe Payer.

Midnight Skin Flicks Close in Millbrae

By JOHN HORGAN

Farms in Berkeley?
Pornies in Millbrae?

You had to ask. It didn't last long but the Millbrae Theater, long a bastion of typical suburban movie fare, succumbed for a week to the leer.

Beginning in the middle of the week and continuing through the early part of last week, the theater had been showing a pair of faded Russ Meyer epics. The evening show began at midnight and continued until after 2 a.m.

The attempt to show such pseudo pron (the two films tried were "Vixen" and "Cherry") was not successful.

And it wasn't hard to figure out why.

In "Vixen," which, for some odd reason, has become a sort of middle-class porn classic, the leading lady has simulated relations with a number of persons and a pathetic dead trout.

Although well-endowed beyond your wildest imagination, none of the young ladies in either flick was going to make anyone forget about Audrey Hepburn.

And, for those Hepburn fans out there, the Millbrae Theater is still showing her nightly in "My Fair Lady."

During the first night of the Meyer doublebill, a theater spokesman said a local decency organization tried to close it down.

But, he said, the group didn't push it.

Over one weekend, the crowds at the theater for the midnight affair were very slim. On Saturday, about 40 people turned out. Many of them were middle-aged couples who came to the theater dressed as if they were out for a night on the town. They did a lot of muffled chuckling and guffawing at the acres of skin paraded across the screen.

However, the turnout wasn't enough.

A theater source said Wednesday that the midnight movies have been discontinued because of a lack of interest.

Let's hear it for the trout.

Church to Provide Confab Music

The men of the Westside Baptist Church, Pacifica, will be in charge of special music for the Men's Retreat of the Northern California Baptist Conference at Santa Cruz, March 19-20.

Pastor David Donnelly and the male quartet will sing, and a brass ensemble will play.

The special music at the Sunday morning worship hour, 10:55 a.m., will be by the male quartette and the adult choir, under the direction of Alton Swedberg.

Mrs. Tamara Schmidt will play the organ, and Pastor Donnelly will speak on the topic, "The True Way of Life."

At the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour, Rich Doran, a recent graduate of Simpson Bible College and a member of the church, will speak.

Special music will be provided, and an added feature will be a taped letter from Missionary Glen Swanson of Japan.

SILENT AUCTION

A silent auction and wine tasting will be given by the Ursuline Guild of St. John's High School, 4056 Mission Street March 19, from 8 to 10 p.m. Choice wines and assorted cheeses will be served.

Sportscripts

Al Figone is working on a string of two straight scholastic baseball championships, but even though he won't say it out loud, he knows the string is about to run out.

Figone, San Francisco State's brand new varsity baseball coach, won North Peninsula League titles his last two years as Terra Nova High's head diamond mentor, one year going all the way and annexing the Central Coast Section title, which is tantamount to being declared the best high school baseball team in Northern California.

This year Figone will probably be happy to finish with a winning record.

He stands, arms folded characteristically, just off to the right of and behind home plate during a practice session, laments his sparse turn-out this year, shakes his head and mutters, "It's Terra Nova all over again."

Figone is talking about the lack of interest in baseball, the ignorance of fundamentals ("I have honestly seen junior high school kids who could bunt better than these guys"), the poor conditioning, the occasional stashed can of beer on the road trips. That's how it was when he took over at Terra Nova, and every win from that point on was an agony for Figone — and very often for his players.

PRACTICE IS NOW OVER and Figone gathers his nine around him, reminds them of the game the next day (as if he actually fears that they will forget it), and then shouts, "All right, chase the rabbit." There are groans of dismay, a few gloves slammed to the ground. Chase the rabbit is one of Figone's torture devices to get his players in shape, but sort of have fun doing it. About six players line up along the base paths, spaced evenly (the drill is run in two or three groups, depending on the number of players involved) and roughly according to their speed (fastest man first, etc.), and then start running with all their might. Every time they are tagged from behind, they must run a long lap around the field after the drill.

No matter how they do it, everybody is the loser, or winner, depending on whether you are one of the players getting tagged a lot, or the coach, or the fast guy who has to keep running, anyway, to keep from getting tagged.

After the drill one of the players, his face bathed in a red sweat, says, ". . . , Coach, when are you going to let up?"

"When you start winning," says Figone simply, and everybody gets the idea.

On the way up to his office, Figone passes the pitching machine batting cage, where two players are extending their practice time with fagers on how many line drives they can whack off the machine.

"Look at that thing," says Figone glumly, motioning to the machine, "Seven hundred bucks and it doesn't throw hard enough."

Figone is at that point sporting a 1-11 record with his Gators, and would at least like his mechanical pitcher to be effective.

BACK IN HIS OFFICE, Figone's spirits pick up as he gazes contentedly at a large piece of cardboard scotch-taped on his door. On the cardboard are scratched the names of about 50 high school and junior college players Figone figures he has a reasonable chance of landing next year. Some of the names are very familiar to him. They are boys he coached at Terra Nova.

Boys coached the Figone way, the way he feels they must be coached to win. That list of potential Gators didn't come easily. Figone has been recruiting officially since he arrived on campus in September, unofficially, since he was hired in June. He was even recruiting during breaks in football practice in the fall, when he acted as an assistant varsity line coach. The phone in his office was at times as hot as an over-use 50 calibre machine gun.

There is one boy on the list who is clearly Figone's kind of player. He is Steve Brock, a 6-4, 230 pound pitcher from Avenal High (about 60 miles southwest of Fresno). The kid travels to San Francisco every weekend to work out with the team. He has plainly bought Figone's program, and San Francisco State College.

"Give me nine kids next year with his kind of attitude," says Figone, "and we'll be tough."

With nine, or preferably more, kids who want to work hard, coming to his camp every year, Figone hopes to build San Francisco State College into one of the country's collegiate baseball powers.

"It's a challenge, with me," says Figone, "a mission."

And if any of you college-age baseball players out there want to join Figone in his crusade, the admission charge is reasonable. All you have to do is chase a rabbit.

SO NOW THE POLITICIANS, inevitably, are getting in on the Satchel Paige-Hall of Fame controversy. Ohio State legislator Rep. Troy Lee James (D-Cleveland) last week offered a resolution, endorsed by the entire Cleveland area delegation, sharply criticizing Hall of Fame officials for inducting Paige into the Hall in a "special category," and at the same time praising Paige for his accomplishments.

Very nice, Rep. James. But where in hell were you BEFORE Paige was inducted? If you are really so concerned, why weren't you out fighting for the black man to become an equal in The Hall, using whatever your political influence is, months or years before?

At least the Hall acted in SOME positive way. You couldn't possibly, could you Rep. James, be exploiting this situation for poltical reason?

Now, as to our position on Paige being inducted in a special category. We can buy the Hall's explanation that it has to be so, because the Negro leagues kept very sketchy records and nobody can be sure that they were of major league calibre.

But we buy it ONLY if the Hall then puts in special categories players like "Old Hoss" Radbourn, now in the "regular" Hall, who compiled 309 wins (1881-1891) when pitchers threw from 50 feet, and were allowed to toss seven, six, and five balls (these rules kept changing during Radbourne's career) before they walked a man. And why shouldn't players like Pud Galvin and Tim Keefe, who put in time with the American Association, or other players who played in the Union Association, when such leagues were considered major leagues — and whose record keeping, incidentally, was often very sloppy — why shouldn't those players be put in special categories?

If The Hall insists on special categories for players who can't be measured against proven standards, why not special categories for players of all different eras and leagues? Why not one for players before the turn of the century, for players after the turn of the century but before the lively ball, one for players after the lively ball, one for players before and one for players after expansion, etc.? Why not one for the National League and one for the American League, and one for 154 game schedules and another for 162 schedules?

Why not start a Little League Hall of Fame category right there at Cooperstown?

AS YOU MAY HAVE noticed, we studiously refrained from writing about the Clay-Frazier fight before it happened, because who could have used more ink on Clay and Frazier? But now that it's over, we'll get in a plug for compassion for the Ali-Clay family. Lost in the flood of post-fight copy was the fact that Muhammad's brother, Rahaman, lost a six-round decision in the preliminaries, which was also the first loss of HIS career.

And now that you think about it, doesn't that computer fight between Rocky Marciano and Clay (the Rock, you remember, KO'd his) make more and more sense? The Rock was the same type of fighter as Frazier, only better.

Finally, according to the experts and their old bromides that you "never pick a good little man over a good big man," Marciano never should have won a fight.

All-County Cage Team

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

In one of those strange sets of circumstances that selfom materialize, the North County Post's 1971 All-County Basketball Team includes two forwards, two guards and a center as the area's top cage stars.

Consideration of basketball talent in the past has often produced choices dominated by the high-scoring guard variety of player but this year's star squad has a balance of height, rebounding, ball-handling and scoring.

Anchoring the first five is Woodside High School center Rich Kelley. Manning the front line are two Mid-Peninsula League standouts in Hillsdale High School's Vance Schram and Burlingame High School's Steve Kircher while the backcourt duo selected was Westmoor High School's Brad Quanstrom and Capuchino High School's Keith Hernandez.

The second quintet included Kelley's teammate, Don Wilson; Hernandez' running-mate, Steve Newberry; Aragon High School's Bill Lewis; Carlmont's Ervin Brown and Jefferson High School's Ken Smith. Smith and Brown are the only two juniors on the top 10.

Kelley, the area's first seven-foot player, was the SPAL's Most Valuable Player in leading the Wildcats to a conference championship. His 7-2 frame, reportedly headed for "a Pac-Eight school," was a true dominating force in league play. He blocked 137 shots, scored 437 points and picked off 420 rebounds. When he gets the weight behind that agile frame there's no telling what heights (statistically speaking) he might reach.

Schram was likewise the Mid-Peninsula League's Most Valuable Player as he personally led the Knights to their second straight MPL titie in a year many thought would relegate them to also-rans. One of the more intense players on the court, Schram averaged 22 points per game and added 12 rebounds to his complete efforts. He led the Knights in both departments.

The third MVP on the Peninsula went to Quanstrom. The North Peninsula League's best player averaged 19 points per game and was one of the more accomplished passers around. Regarded by many as one of the finest guards the county has produced since Charlie Johnson's era at Sequoia, Quanstrom had probably the longest range of any player on the Peninsula.

Kircher's credentials are also impressive — first team All-MPL, MVP at the Awalt Christmas Tournament and Burlingame's new scoring champion. The Panther forward likewise was deadly from far away but was a dangerous driver and rebounder.

Hernandez was the spark-plug that made the Capuchino fast-break go. He, too, was a first team All-MPL selection with a 19.4 league scoring average and an 18.7 overall mark. His best weapon was the foul line jumper off a quick running break.

Aragon's Lewis sat out a good deal of the practice season so there's no telling what an early start might have gotten him. As it turned out he set a new MPL scoring record of 546 points in 12 outings. On the varsity since his sophomore year, Lewis has matured with each season and could be a top collegiate star with his accurate outside shooting abilities.

One of the most solid players around is Woodside's Wilson. At 6-6 he's big enough to play center on any high school team — any one except one with Kelley at center. When he put things together this year Wilson was unstoppable. He suffered at times from inconsistency but still produced a 17.5 scoring average and was second only to Kelley for SPAL MVP honors. He snared 199 rebounds in 22 games and shot 50 per cent from the floor.

Brown is one of four returning juniors coach Terry Stogner has for next year and he's an excellent nucleus. A jumping-jack center, Brown averaged 19 points in league play and was a unanimous first team All-SPAL selection. He nabbed 13 rebounds per game and was the player who took over a sagging offense in the latter stages of conference action.

Newberry will be a top-flight college guard, of that there's little doubt. At 6-4 he has the height and he is probably the best outside shooter Capuchino has ever had. His range is his greatest asset as well as the fact he can handle the ball with either hand and is adept at working his way along the baseline inside. He scored at a 18.2 clip overall and also collected about 12 rebounds per game.

Smith is following in the footsteps of older brother Pinky Smith. He has a powerful and dominating inside game and is capable of hitting the short-range jumper, although he didn't need to much this season. He tied with Quanstrom for the NPL's scoring championship and was a first team All-League selection in his undergraduate season.

It is one of the best county squads in many years with a real blending of all the ingredients, including that elusive height factor, one needs to play winning basketball. Five-on-five anyone?

Ray DeJong Named Shrine Game Coach

High school coaches Ray DeJong of South San Francisco and Dick Ryan of Ignacio Valley have been named as co-coaches for the North team in the annual Shrine North-South football game in Memorial Coliseum July 30.

Managing director Herbert W. Smith announced the selections Wednesday.

DeJong, an offensive guard on California's Rose Bowl teams of 1948-49, has compiled an impressive record in his 21 years at South San Francisco.

Oceana Takes Third Straight

Oceana High came up with three runs in the eighth inning to score an 8-7 victory over Serramonte Wednesday in a practice season baseball game on the coastside.

Falcons Rout Coastside Foe

Terra Nova High school played host to the Crestmoor Falcons March 9 in a practice season track meet that proved the Tigers were out of their league in more ways than one.

With top-line talent shunted into unfamiliar events and utilizing all the restraint possible in a dual meet, the Falcons still annihilated their coastside rivals, 115-21.

In tuning up for Thursday's Mid Peninsula League Relays at Capuchino, Crestmoor won every event against Terra Nova and took 10 of the 14 possible second places as well.

The best performance of the chill afternoon came in the 180 low hurdles, where Bart Pierce set a new school record by clocking 20.2. Steve Auclair, who formerly held the Falcon mark, equalled it in clocking 20.3 behind Pierce.

Crestmoor coach Ron Etherton took his State Meet sprinter, Chuck Bommarito, out of the short races and sent him into the 440 instead. Bommarito responded with a creditable 51.9 victory in one of six Falcon sweeps.

S.S.F. Spike Squad Rips Aragon High

Much to the chagrin of Aragon High School, the South San Francisco Warriors ran, jumped and threw things exceedingly well March 9 in a track meet sorely in need of competition.

The Warriors, who took all but three first places, ripped the Dons 108-28 in the varsity meet and were but a point less lethal in the frosh-soph. division with a 105-26 triumph.

The South S.F. spiked shoe carnage was led by the Warriors' Samoan twosome of Tony Sotoa and Setoga Setoga, who were complemented handsomely by Gordon Snyder.

Sotoa won both hurdles races with respective marks of 15.8 and 21.3, his best this year, and took the long jump with a 21-10 effort.

T.N. Tigers Triumphs Over S.S.F.

Terra Nova's Tigers were tabbed underdogs to visiting South San Francisco in Thursday's North Peninsula League swim meet, but came through with some of the fastest times of their lives to upset the Warriors 52-43.

Terra Nova took the lead by winning the first event, the 200 medley relay, and managed to hold a seven to nine point margin thereafter.

Tiger senior Bob Annecston established himself as one of the top freestylers in the NPL, taking the 200 in 2:04.5 and the 400 in 4:31.5.

Steve Morgan got more first place points for the Tigers with a fast 1:03.9 in the 100 fly. He also placed in the 100 free and swam the third leg on the 200 medley relay team that started the whole upset going.

Rams Outfox Crestmoor, 3-2

The Westmoor Rams made out like bandits Thursday, scoring three unearned runs to edge visiting Crestmoor 3-2 in an interleague practice game.

Neither team boasted a hot bat — Crestmoor collected three hits and Westmoor four — but Westmoor didn't need much.

In the bottom of the fourth Steve Murray led off for the Rams with a single. Brad Kearns bunted him to second. Kearns was safe at first on the play.

Meanwhile, Murray just kept on running — first to third, and then home when he saw that the plate wasn't being covered. Kearns ended up on second. He went to third on a sacrifice fly and dashed home when a pick-off attempt ended up in left field. The Rams added another unearned run in the fifth.

Crestmoor kept a string of zeros going until the last inning. Mike Ayala and Ken Bowman walked. After a strikeout and an infield out, Jim White singled to left to drive Ayala and Bowman across. White died at second.

Crestmoor Dominates Relay Meet

By RON REID

The Mid Peninsula League this year seems ready to stage a race for its varsity track championship having all the seething drama of a weekend taffy pull.

Unless their rivals start running faster than Peg Leg Bates, and they haven't so far, it's going to be a title year for the Crestmoor High School Falcons, a happy bunch of lads enjoying a fun season with more smiles on the way.

At least that was the indication Thursday in the MPL Relays at Capuchino, where Ron Etherton's Falcons chuckled, chortled and giggled their way to nine first places and the varsity team title with but trifling resistance.

Crestmoor scored 114½ points for the afternoon's effort while runnerup Burlingame, last season's MPL champ, was a distant also-ran with 64 among the five other schools which participated.

The Falcons indicated early that they meant to dominate the proceedings and did so by taking the first eight races that were contested (with help from their frosh-soph chums alternating with the bigger guys). En route to the lopsided team triumph, Crestmoor won five relays on the track, three in the field and added a pair of open individual events just for a few more laughs.

"We try to make track fun for the kids," Etherton said when the meet was nearing conclusion. "Winning and losing isn't everything with us. Our kids have fun together and everyone gets along well together. That's one of the things we're trying to teach as much as anything else."

Etherton also said that the relay meet was not a true indication of the season yet to come.

"No, I certainly don't think this is how the league will go," he said. "I still think Burlingame is the best no matter what happened today. They'll come along better and I would guess that in our dual meet, they'll win half the events. We'll have to do it with seconds and thirds."

Last week, however, the Falcons did it with first and Chuck Bommarito helped Crestmoor pile up four of them.

A powerful-striding sprinter who placed in both the State Meet 100 and 220 last year, Bommarito anchored the 440 and mile relay teams to victory, ran third leg on a winning sprint medley combo and led Crestmoor's three-man assault on the discus relay with a toss of 139-7½. Steve Trueman, who also did yeoman duty, won the pole vault at 13 feet and led the Falcons' long jump contingent with a wind-impeded leap of 19-7½.

Crestmoor also got a high hurdles victory from Bart Pierce, who ran the race with Hillsdale's Mike Roche and no one else after the starter erroneously issued false start raps against every other contestant in the event, and won the two mile and shot put relays. In the latter event, the Falcons' Steve Lorenzo got off a 48-7¾ toss, three feet beyond his previous best.

Burlingame took the distance medley with a fine anchor leg from miler Dave Montoya and got the shuttle hurdles through the efforts of Brett Johnson.

Individual victories went to San Mateo's Steve Paton, who triple jumped 40-5, and to Mills high jumper Bill Kahn, who cleared 6-0.

While no meet records were set in the varsity competition and marks indicated a down year for the upper classmen, the frosh-soph lads set four new standards as San Mateo won with 92½ points.

The Bearcats' Ryan Paton, Steve's brother, set one of the new records with an impressive 12-6 pole vault. Crestmoor finished second in the frosh-soph meet with 85½ points.

The MPL dual meet season starts tomorrow.

Mustangs' Late Rally Beats Bears

Capuchino upped its preseason baseball record to 2-1 on March 9. The Cap team scored three times in the final inning to edge visiting Menlo Atherton 3-2.

Cap's Terry Ruggles pitched a tight game, allowing just five hits, but the Mustangs' normally explosive offense went scoreless for the first six innings.

Mike McDonald led off the bottom of the seventh for Cap with a single and went to second on Scott Strathearn's walk. Both moved up a base on a passed ball, then McDonald scored on a wild pitch.

Mike Biller and Peter Santora both walked; Santora was thrown out when Scott Kusich hit into a fielder's choice. The M-A infield moved in. Then Ruggles hit a hard shot through the third baseman's legs for the winning RBIs.

M-A opens SPAL play Friday at Sequoia; Cap hosts SSF in a practice game that afternoon.

Cap, Crestmoor Frosh-Soph Lose

Both Capuchino's and Crestmoor's frost-soph baseball teams fell at the hands of a hard-hitting Westmoor frosh-soph nine. Capuchino lost on the Westmoor field 10-2, while Creatmoor was beaten on its home field, 7-3, the following Tuesday.

Despite poor base-running by the Rams, the Crestmoor Falcons couldn't take advantage during the first three innings. Westmoor took a 3-0 lead on hits by Rob Roy, Chuck Collondrez, Wayne Murray, Jerry Mitchell and Lou Medrano. Crestmoor knotted it up with three runs in the fourth inning of hits by Nate, Ford and Chavez.

In the Rams' part of the fifth inning Lou Medrano woke up the small crowd with a 300-foot shot over the right field fence to put the Rams ahead, 6 to 3. Westmoor closed the scoring in the seventh with Chris Welsh scoring when a throw got by the Falcon first baseman. Wayne Murray, Rick Casali and Kent Bjorquist gave strong pitching performances with the latter picking up the win.

In Friday's game the Capuchino Mustangs took an early lead with a triple by Haskins and a home run by Galvin in the first inning, but that also closed out the Mustangs' scoring for the day.

The Rams got two runs in the second on singles by Brendon Milton, Dan Tomczak, and Church Collondrez and a live drive triple by Lou Medrano. Three innings later the Rams closed out their scoring with eight runs on singles by Welsh and Medrano, a double by Jerry Mitchell, and a long triple by catcher John Hart.

Strong pitching from Mark Racette, Dan Tomczak, and Bob Payne, with Dan Tomczak picking up the win.

Wrestlers Are Upset

Though disappointed in the finals, both Skyline and Canada Colleges made good accounts of themselves in the State Junior College Championships at Camino College in Torrance Saturday.

Canada finished tenth in the state with 20 points, while Skyline was eleventh with 18 points. Favored Cerritos College won the title.

In the 142-pound finals, Skyline's Don Wright, who was favored, lost a 7-1 decision to Foothill's Bruce Blanchard. Wright had beaten Blanchard twice previously in the regular season. Also, Jim Smith placed fifth for Skyline.

Another favorite fell by the wayside in the 167-pound finals when Chris Hurcharik of Canada was upset. Hal Morris, also of Skyline, managed a fifth place finish.

Colts' Errors Aid Crestmoor

Crestmoor High School generously handed El Camino's Colts seven unearned runs March 9, however, it still managed to emerge with their first win of the season, 9-7, in an error-and-wind-filled fest in South San Francisco.

The Falcons benefited themselves from Camino miscues as the Colts committed four consecutive errors in the sixth inning after two were out and no one was on base. Two dropped outfield flys, a fielding error and another throwing error enabled Dave Azzopardi and Al Crandal to score the winning runs. Crandal had three RBIs and Azzopardi had two hits.

THE FIRST "roundtable" on master agreements was held in Daly City Saturday by the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association. The Franklin-McKinley and Oakland Teachers Associations assisted. Teams (above) were provided a choice of sessions to attend. They ranged from "master agreement" preparation to grievance procedures. Mrs. Joan Hemphill (shown below), who was president of the JCTA when its pace-setting pact was accepted, ending a brief teachers' strike, pointed out that the "round table" concept was "conceived requested and developed by teachers for teachers." It is believed to be the first of its kind in the United States. "The conclusion of the session was that the master agreement, when developed with full teacher involvement, will develop teachers' commitment and better education for children," Mrs. Hemphill said.

Millbrae Police Seeking a 'Victim'

Millbrae police Thursday morning were looking for the missing victim in what apparently was a bloody hotel-oom battle.

Residents of the Thunderbolt Hotel called police at 2:20 a.m. Thursday, when "screaming and fighting" were heard in one of the rooms.

Officers rushed to the scene, found blood outside the door, and entered with a pass key supplied by the manager.

No one was inside.

A number of suitcases, containing a variety of personal property, identifications, and airline tags, and two color television sets were found.

There was blood on the walls, on the drapes, and in the bathroom, said Police Sgt. Ronald Caine.

Within a short time, police had located a 16-year-old black youth who said he had been staying in the room. He identified himself as Hughey Dean Wingate, a runaway from Philadelphia.

Since he left Philadelphia he had been traveling with a 43-year-old black man named Horace James, he said.

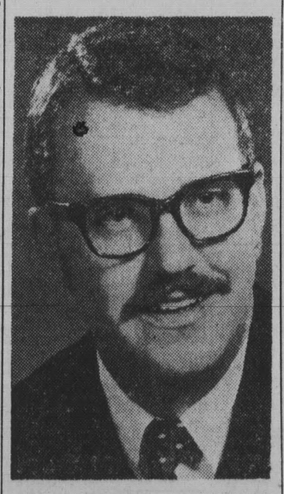
James also returned to the room, said police, and was arrested on suspicion of possessing stolen property.

Police identified James as having been released from an eastern prison only weeks ago.

They said the two, James and Wingate, had apparently invited a white man into their room, for certain social activity, and then attempted to rob him.

When the victim began fighting back, officers said, he was apparently beaten.

Police said they do not know who the man is, that they are looking for, but that he was apparently badly injured.



DR. THOMAS BRUCE has been appointed chairman of the department of pathology at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City. He has practiced as associated pathologist at the Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley since 1968.

The gym will be open to all men and women of high school age and above. Programs will be established on the basis of interest and need.

The following program schedule will be in effect from March 15 through June 11:

MONDAYS — 7-9:30 p.m., 30 and Over Club, Adults 30 years and over; 7-9:30 p.m. badminton, high school and above.

TUESDAYS — 7-9:30 p.m., basketball, high school and above.

WEDNESDAYS — 7-9:30 p.m., volleyball, high school and above.

THURSDAYS — 7-9:30 p.m., basketball, high school and above.

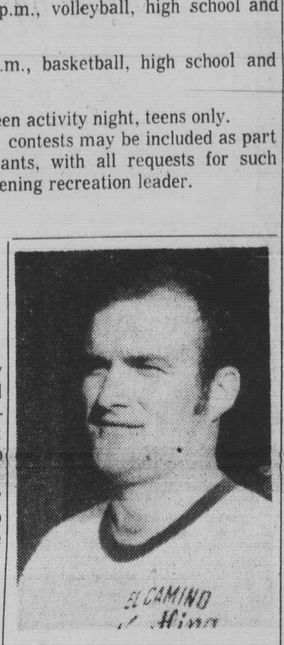
FRIDAYS — 7-9:30 p.m., teen activity night, teens only.

Leagues, tournaments and contests may be included as part of program, as interest warrants, with all requests for such activity being directed to the evening recreation leader.

Vollyball Event by Teen Clubs

The Daly City Junior Teen Clubs, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, will hold their annual Co-Rec Volleyball Tournament March 27 at Westmoor High School from 6 to 10 p.m.

Last year, the Telstars Junior Teens won the championship and the Casualiers won the sportsmanship award.



MIKE HEFFERNAN, El Camino High School wrestling coach, is giving free wrestling workouts for junior and senior high school boys each Monday, from 7-9 p.m. Designed to teach fundamental wrestling skills to boys, the program is sponsored by the South San Francisco Recreation Department.

Big Throw Not Enough for Padres

Serra High School's track team was long on muscle but short on depth March 9 in a practice season dual meet with the Westmoor Rams.

The visitors from the North Peninsula League handed the Padres a 72-64 defeat in the varsity competition and took the frosh-soph meet by a 105-27 score.

Serra, however, came up with one of the finest performances of the year from junior Tom Banducci, a shot putter who heaved the iron ball 51 feet, 8½ inches. Banducci also took the discus at 125-2½.

Hurdler Bill Monte also doubled for the Pads, winning his specialties with respective marks of 16.9 and 22.0. Pat Finn ran a career best two mile of 10:16.4 for another impressive Serra effort.

Westmoor's Bill McLennon won both horizontal jumps with respective marks of 20-2 and 38-11.

Rain Stops Prep Games

But for the brave lads in the Mid Peninsula League swimming relays, local high school athletes were stymied by the rain Friday.

The North Peninsula League track relays were similarly stopped by wet weather and re-scheduled for yesterday.

Installed

San Bruno's two new council members — Margaret Kozkowski and Tony Governale — were installed March 9 on a 2-1 vote, with one abstention.

Councilman Dick Griffith, citing unconstitutionality of the recall, voted against the vote canvass. Councilman Ted Long, who filled in as mayor for absent Neil Christal, abstained from voting.

Serra High Beats Bearcats for Its Sixth Win

The lower half of Serra High School's batting order, normally the defensive stalwarts of the game, carried the offensive load Thursday as the Padres won their sixth game of the practice season without a loss, 3-1, over cross-town rival San Mateo.

Lefthander Mark Souza was near untouchable at Fitzgerald Field as he struck out 13 Bearcat batters with a sharp-breaking curve and a highly effective fast ball. He walked one batter and allowed four hits.

Brothers Jim and Joe Berriatua, patrolling left and center on defense, combined for four of the seven Pad safeties. It was Jim who drove in catcher Brian McGlennon in the fourth inning with the eventual winning tally. McGlennon had gained life on one of San Mateo's two errors and had been sacrificed neatly to second by Souza preceding Berriatua's hit.

McGlennon scored the Padres' first run in the second. He singled, Souza walked, Jim Berriatua singled and a passed ball brought McGlennon home. The Padres added icing in the seventh when the Berriatua brothers put together back-to-back singles and Don Stevens singled for the third tally.

Dave Grimsley's double drove in the Bearcats' lone run in the second. Mike Paskevich pitched well in defeat, striking out four.
